THE ANNUAL MAY PROCESSION AT SAINT MICHAEL'S CHURCH WITNESSED BY 10,000 PEOPLE

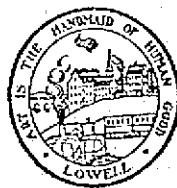

SCENE IN THE MAY PROCESSION

Over 10,000 people, from all sections of the city, assembled along the streets in Centralville yesterday afternoon, through which the annual May procession of St. Michael's parish passed, and looked upon one of the most impressive religious demonstrations ever held in this city. There were over 1000 in line and the pageant was one of rare beauty and significance portraying as it did all the leading mysteries of the Christian religion.

Long before the time fixed for the start, the streets along the route were lined with people. The procession was led by a squad of police who moved the spectators back to the sidewalks, while many viewed the marchers from the tops of buildings and windows along the route.

The weather but for a stiff breeze, that sent the dust flying, was ideal and at 3 o'clock when Rev. Denis Murphy, who had charge of the procession, gave the signal for the line to move the sun was shining brilliantly and the temperature was comfortable even to those attired in summer apparel. The procession started from the school in Sixth street and moved slowly up to Read, and through the latter to Third, and down to Bridge to Sixth and to the church, where the services of the crowning of the Blessed Virgin were held. Along the line of procession the marchers were the recipients of much favorable comment. A leading feature was the singing during the procession. The girls of the church sodalities sang beautiful hymns in honor of the Blessed Virgin, while the members of the choir, wearing black cassocks and white surplices, rendered hymns appropriate to the occasion.

The costumes of the participants were very beautiful and represented the painstaking efforts of the sisters of the school and also the mothers of the little ones. Some of those in the line were very small, but they carried out the instructions they received to the letter and the faith of the parishioners was never more impressively shown. The portrayals in the procession were chiefly allegorical but in each particular appropriate and beautiful. The banners in line bore inscriptions indicating their emblematic meanings.

Lowell, Mass., May 15, 1912.

They were attired in their cassocks and surplices and as they moved along the sight of the men in the vicinity, who uncovered was very impressive. Following came the squads of Company C, Sixth Regiment, J. V. M. in command of Second Lieut. James Powers. The militiamen wore their dress uniforms and made a fine appearance. Next came the Faith group of little girls, who were beautifully gowned in white dresses with vari-colored trimmings. They were: Lillian Christolm, Margaret Dempsey, Frances Foley, Frances Bondreau, Lillian Shea, Mary Shea, Teresa Critchett, Mary O'Connor, Catherine Ryan and Eileen Cote.

Little Raymond Whelton, representing St. John, the evangelist, followed in line. He wore the toga, red wreath, gold trimmings and sandals. The sanctuary boys in their regular regalia followed. The following girls who carried banners and blue and white pennants came next: Helen Birchall, Catherine O'Brien, Beatrice Dowling, Mary Gallagher, Mary Dowd, Mary Cregan, Mary Johnson, Rose Tully, Anna Dorsey and Helen Tierney.

The representation of the Blessed Virgin was portrayed by Helen Haviland and Nora Coleman represented the Annunciation Queen. The five joyous mysteries, one of the features of the procession, were portrayed by the children and the Holy Innocents were presented by Harold Adams, Joseph Hyde, Paul Bagley, Francis Moran, Emmet McDonough, Robert Chisholm, Leo Tunny, Thomas Gavin, John Allen and John McVerney. The followers and guards were Allen Tiernan, Leo Riordan, Archie Keefe, Lawrence Flynt, Leo McHale, William Large, Emmett Rourke, Patrick Cregan, Walter Sullivan and John Fleming. St. John, the baptist, was portrayed by Edward Moran in the characteristic goat skin, sandals and white robes. The Christ child, in the dark red flowing robes, was represented by Clinton Sullivan, and King David was portrayed by John Morris. Members of the sodalities choir, directed by James A. Murphy, came next.

A number of little girls, dressed as angels, and marching in cross formation, preceded the statue of the Virgin mother and child, which was placed on a wooden base and carried on the shoulders of four young men in saucy attire. On both sides were members of the militia, who formed a guard of honor. Blue and white pennants were carried by Helen O'Connor, Mary Quinn, Lillian Watterson, Evelyn Hyde, Catherine Egan, Irene Burns, Nora Connors, Anna O'Brien, Teresa Cowling and Mary Riley.

Louise Egan, wearing a white flowing gown with an artistic painting on the front of her dress, represented the Sacred Heart of Mary. The Angel of Agony was taken by Marion Nevin, and she was followed by squad of Roman soldiers carrying the instruments of the passion. The crown of thorns, the lash and other instruments used during the passion of Christ, were portrayed by Masters Daniel Theodore Harrington, Walter Hyde, James Mitchell, Walter Choquette and Richard Blumhorn. These little tots wore the helmet, sandals and breast plates of the soldiers of Rome. The five sorrowful mysteries made up the rear of the first division.

The second division was led by two squads of militia. Mildred Gaffney as Mary of the Temple followed. She wore a dress of immaculate white and was accompanied by two smaller children also dressed in white.

Virgins and martyrs were represented by Dorothy Ring, Gertrude Noyes, Georgianna Keefe, Anna Stowell, Marcella McEvoy, Margaret Ring, Mabel Quinn, Irene Plunkett, Mary Stowell and Loretta Farrell.

The Angel of the Resurrection was portrayed by Marion Moran, who was preceded by members of the Children of Mary sodality. The five Glorious Mysteries were represented by Lillian Breen, Catherine Chisholm, Bella Lantagne, Olive Kelly, Helen

CONDEMNED MAN TO PAY PENALTY

Richeson Will be Put to Death in the Electric Chair Shortly After Midnight Tonight

He Expressed a Desire to See His Brother, But the Latter Did Not Visit Him—He Says That He is Ready to Meet His Fate

BOSTON, May 20.—When Clarence V. T. Richeson, the slayer of Miss A. V. T. Richeson, realized that he had probably less than 12 hours to live, he expressed a desire this afternoon to see his brother, Douglas Richeson of Chicago, who is in the city. The former clergyman told his spiritual adviser, Rev. Dr. Herbert S. Johnson, that he would not urge his brother to call on him, but would be pleased to see him. The prisoner said that so far as he was concerned he could meet his brother without fear of collapse. He had reconciled himself to his fate, he added, and felt that he was at peace with God and the world.

The condemned man slept soundly for four hours this morning after being awake nearly all night. He was calm and even cheerful at times, occasionally singing a hymn or repeating his favorite scriptural passages.

Rev. Herbert Stebbins, the prison chaplain, was with Richeson until 9 a. m. when he awoke. Rev. Dr. Johnson stayed in the death chamber until afternoon, arranging to return again at night and comfort the prisoner in his last moments. Richeson has little appetite and remained resting on his bed during the forenoon.

Warden Benjamin F. Bridges, Deputy Warden Michael J. Murphy and Rev. J. J. Murphy, Roman Catholic chaplain engaged in prison work, were among those who called to see the condemned man. Father Murphy asked Richeson how he felt and urged him to make his final peace with God. The former minister spent much of his time today in prayer and in reading his bible.

Richeson's brother decided not to visit the state prison but he will remain here until the body leaves for Virginia. After conferring with Dr. Johnson in the warden's office this afternoon Attorney Morse visited Richeson. He found his client calm and anxious to have the sentence of the law carried out tonight. Mr. Morse today said: "A man was in my office a short time ago who urged me to go to the courts to get a writ of habeas corpus with the purpose of procuring a stay of execution in Richeson's case. Many have urged me to do that. The man left threatening to go to the governor. But I know absolutely that Richeson would say 'no' to any such move. Richeson has made up his mind to die and he does not want any delay."

Richeson has made up his mind to die and he does not want any delay."

Richeson's brother decided not to visit the state prison but he will remain here until the body leaves for Virginia. After conferring with Dr. Johnson in the warden's office this afternoon Attorney Morse visited Richeson. He found his client calm and anxious to have the sentence of the law carried out tonight. Mr. Morse today said: "A man was in my office a short time ago who urged me to go to the courts to get a writ of habeas corpus with the purpose of procuring a stay of execution in Richeson's case. Many have urged me to do that. The man left threatening to go to the governor. But I know absolutely that Richeson would say 'no' to any such move. Richeson has made up his mind to die and he does not want any delay."

WOULD ABOLISH COUNCIL

BOSTON, May 20.—In voting the bill increasing the salary of members of the executive council, Gov. Foss told the legislature today that his body of advisers were of little public use and that the council should be abolished. He said that the position of councillor in Massachusetts was mainly an honorary one in which the salary was of secondary consequence. The governor also pointed out that the authority for appointing and removing public officials should rest with the chief executive. In conclusion he recommended a submission to the people of the question of abolishing the council and conferring full power upon the governor.

FREE RELIGIOUS MOVEMENT

BOSTON, May 20.—Many Unitarians and others connected with the so-called free religious movement came here today for the annual celebration of an anniversary week marking the 50th anniversary of the American Unitarian association.

Among the guests are Abdul Bala, the Persian prophet, and Professor William Morgan of the University of California, both of whom will be heard at nearly all the prominent meetings.

The week began with the annual meeting of the ministerial union in Channing hall, at which Rev. Jenkin Lloyd Jones of Chicago made the principal address. Later came the annual meetings of the women's alliance and the Unitarian service pension society. The annual meeting of the American Unitarian association will be held tomorrow.

MUNICIPAL COUNCIL

TO GIVE HEARING ON PETITION FOR MORE ROOMS IN SCHOOL

The municipal council will give a hearing in the Greenbush school hall this evening on the petition of Thomas E. Garvey and others for more class rooms at that school. The hearing will be begun at 7.30 o'clock. Mr. Garvey will not be present at the hearing having been called out of town by the death of his sister.

The council will meet in its chamber at city hall tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock. Several hearings have been scheduled for tomorrow afternoon and it is expected that the council will take up the financial question again. City Treasurer Stiles will be present and it was stated today that he would possibly be represented by council. The council will make an effort to trace the $49,000 Huntington hall fund and some other moneys alleged to have been used for purposes other than those for which they were appropriated.

SHIP OF MYSTERY
HAS BEEN SEIZED

Captain Wants Dynamite
and Other Property.

BOSTON, May 20.—Again the "Ship of Mystery," the Ned P. Walker of Boston, has come into the limelight through the appearance in Havana of her captain, asking that a fine of $100 be refunded and the dynamite and diving apparatus which was seized at Guantanamo on April 20 released. And he says if he doesn't get satisfaction he will stir up an international row.

Beginning with her charter by the Boston Wrecking company, the way she was fitted out and the secrecy of her destination, interest, at first aroused by curiosity but deepened by later incidents in Cuban waters, has intensified, and the "Ship of Mystery" will be surely kept in the spotlight for some time.

Added to this is the fact that she was supposed to have been rigged out to salvage the iron from the Merrimack sunk in the entrance to Santiago de Cuba by Hobson and his crew of three to prevent the escape of Cervera's fleet.

Clearing from Boston on Feb. 20, the Ned P. Walker reached Santiago de Cuba on March 12. There she was immediately the object of suspicion on account of the dynamite on board, and the only thorough investigation of the American coast was authority given to release the dynamite and diving apparatus. Capt. Smith instead of sailing for Boston had gone to Havana and there got leave to salvage some of the vessels which were sunk in the neighborhood of Santiago in 1898.

Having cleared up the matter to the satisfaction of the Santiago customs authorities, Capt. Smith asked permission to leave the harbor for a few days, but was refused unless he stated for what reason. He was told, however, that he could clear for Guantanamo and once outside could do as he pleased. Such a clearance was taken. The customs officials were much mystified when, seven days later, the Ned P. Walker sailed into Guantanamo, although it was but a seven-hour sail from Santiago.

Again becoming suspicious and annoyed because he could get no information as to where the vessel had been during the seven days between ports, the collector at Guantanamo assessed a fine of $100 and seized 30 cases of dynamite, seven boxes of detonators, five diving dresses, two metal diving helmets and two divers' pumps.

COST OF LIVING

"CITY WIDE" CONGRESS TO MAKE AN INVESTIGATION

BALTIMORE, Md., May 20.—A committee of the "City wide" congress of Baltimore which had been formed to inquire into the causes of the high cost of living will this week submit its report. Summarized the report states that prices have been raised for the following reasons:

Increased supply of gold; price control of exchanges and agreements; tariff on foodstuffs; abuse of cold storage to help corner markets; decreased labor on farms; decrease of farming around the city; excessive profits by middlemen due to the many small shippers; too much handling between producer and consumer; too much purchasing on much advanced prices; growing luxury of the people.

Among remedies suggested is the establishment of a national and international congress and clearing house to regulate the relative value of gold and staple products at stated intervals. The temporary control of foodstuffs and laws controlling cold storage making corners in foodstuffs illegal is also urged.

LINCOLN MEMORIAL HALL

CLAREMONT, Va., May 20.—Lincoln Memorial hall, the latest addition to the buildings of the Temperance, Industrial and Collegiate Institute here, was dedicated here today with elaborate exercises presided over by Gov. Mann. The institute which now has a plant worth three-quarters of a million dollars and is attended by negro students from all over the country was founded 20 years ago by John J. Smallwood, a negro educator, with ten pupils and less than $50 in cash. Mrs. John Hay was the chief contributor to the $20,000 fund for Lincoln hall.

MANUFACTURERS' ASSOCIATION

The co-operative campaign is designed to improve the conditions and efficiency of American industry, methods through education on the questions of accidents, prevention, industrial training for apprentices, immigration, and fire protection.

POLICE COURT SESSION

Several Offenders Disposed of Today

Today's session of the police court proved to be a long drawn out affair, not owing to the number of cases on the docket but due to the fact that there was a Billerica case which occupied several hours. The case was that of Alva Nichols, charged with trespassing on land of his uncle, Charles Martindale, and also threatening Martindale. During the course of the trial various phases of the law were probed by counsel and argued at considerable length. Lawyer James Stuart Murphy appeared for the government and Lawyer Daniel J. Donahue for the defense.

The complainant, Charles H. Martindale, testified that he owns six lots of land in Billerica and that his nephew, the defendant, resides on adjoining land and that Nichols frequently trespasses through his land. Witness said that last fall he placed a sign on the land, forbidding people to trespass, but that Nichols has disregarded the sign.

Continuing the complainant said, "Last Tuesday night about seven o'clock Nichols passed across my land and when I ordered him off he threatened me with a knife. When he drew the knife I seized a clothes pole in order to protect myself and Nichols ran towards his house."

On cross-examination the witness said that there had been a dispute over the boundary lines and that at the suggestion of a friend he had a surveyor visit the premises and make a survey.

Mrs. Martindale testified that last Tuesday night Mr. Nichols was crossing her land and she ordered him to get off and he refused to do so.

The defendant, Nichols, said he had sold the land to his uncle, and also referred to the dispute over the boundary line, but said he never trespassed on the land owned by Martindale, neither did he ever threaten the man.

Several witnesses were called and in substance corroborated the testimony offered by the defendant.

At the conclusion of the hearing of the testimony the court found the defendant not guilty on both complaints and ordered him discharged.

Have Aroused Men of Knowledge

then the excavations have been fairly continuous.

The present government of Italy, successor of the kingdom of Naples, holds in its own hands the right to excavate and will under no circumstances permit outsiders to dig in the ruins. Time after time foreign scientists, eager to uncover more rapidly for the world the rich treasures of Pompeii, have proffered assistance. Foreign capitalists, interested in history and art, have offered money to help in the work. All these offers have met with polite and firm refusal. Italy wishes to retain for itself all the glory of excavating what was once the seat of some of its wealthiest citizens.

The recent excavations in Pompeii have aroused men of knowledge throughout the world, for they have

Nations Will Talk of Wireless Telegraphy at Their Meeting in London Next Month

When the nations get together next month in London to talk about wireless telegraphy their meeting will have more than a coldly scientific value. The ways of wireless through the air have acquired immense interest in the eyes of the world by reason of the use of the new method of communication in saving the survivors of the Titanic disaster. The delegates will talk of laws to regulate wireless telegraphy, of international agreements, of regulating regulations, of the proper pay of operators, of the proper length of signals, etc., but underlying their discussions will be the feeling that they are dealing with a living, breathing thing akin to all varieties of human thought and feeling.

The virtues of the wireless have been extolled sufficiently since the Titanic flashed out her first distress signal. But the methods of use of the wireless medium have received severe criticism from scientists and laymen alike. For instance, there has been much talk of the uselessness of the wireless stream when the only man on board a ship lies buried in need of sleep and his companions on board cannot read what the eager ether would tell them. Doubtless the delegates in London will voice their conviction that every ship should carry at least two wireless men.

Other matters of high importance will come before the conference. Nations on the eastern shores of the Atlantic venture America for not having instituted before this time a system of regulation of the use of wireless telegraphy to the end that "interference" by amateurs and by unauthorized persons may be done away with. The United States government has named eleven delegates to represent America at the conference.

The map of all men in the scientific world today is Guglielmo Marconi. To him the 733 survivors of the Titanic look as to their savior, as much as though he had actually rowed them from the sinking steamship or pulled them from the water. To his genius the world owes the invention which summoned the Carpathia to the aid of her stricken sister and in hundreds of other instances has called help to vessels in distress. The loss of the Titanic recalled to the world the collision between the Republic and the Titanic in 1898, when the wireless on the former ship, with Jack Binns at the key, called the Baltic to her aid. No lives were lost.

The world resounds with praise of the wireless operators who figured in the Titanic disaster. They are three in number, all Britons—Jack Phillips, chief operator of the Titanic, who lost his life when his ship sank; Harold Bride, second operator of the Titanic, who was saved and who later relayed the third man, Harold Cottam, on the Carpathia, when the burden of sleepless nights and toilsome days proved too much for the telegrapher who caught the Titanic's flash of distress.

Bride's story of the last hours of Phillips, sticking to his key until the waters submerged the engines and rendered his instrument useless, is an epic of the sea. He pays full tribute to the hero who wouldn't stop sending out his "C Q D" and "S O S" signals for aid, even to help to strap a life belt about him or to pay attention to the cowardly member of the crew who sought to steal the life boat when it was in place. The only thought of Phillips was of duty, not of self. He "stuck" even after he was the son, Horace A., succeeded him. The corporations of the neighboring cities of Lowell, Haverhill, and Andover, had been busy turning out large orders of broom dusters and machine brushes. Competition was not known in those days, but for the last 20 years, however, the reformatory institutions have made brush-making one of their chief occupations, thus crippling the business as to price and quality.

Mr. Washburn being a conservative business man, decided to retire from business, and for the last ten years the plant has been idle. The factory made no pretensions to elegance, but was admirably adapted to the purposes for which it was built. It stands upon a small stream which flows into the Merrimack, and yields about eight horsepower for driving the machinery of the shop. To supply this stream of water Mr. Washburn in 1871 built a reservoir covering 20 acres, and now has water on precisely the same plan that the large factories of Lowell are supplied. In the shop a number of hands were steadily employed in making the various sorts of brushes.

She was a member of John Street Congregational church, and a contralto singer in the choir of that church for many years. Her rare qualities shone most brightly in the most hallowed home. There her greatest delight was to gather her friends about her, entertaining them with a hospitality, the memory of which will ever be an inspiration to many hearts.

BOXING, GOLF
AND ATHLETICSLOWELL LOST TO LAWRENCE
IN GREAT 12 INNING GAME5000 Fans Saw Game—Score 2
to 1—Keating in Fine Form
—Lavigne Injured

The Lowell team, accompanied by over 1000 loyal rooters, went to Lawrence Saturday afternoon, where the champs met the Lawrence team and were defeated after playing 12 hard innings by the score of 2 to 1. The game was one of the best of the season and was a pitchers' battle between Keating and Wolfgang. The Lawrence twirler had the better of the argument and his exhibition was very classy. The winning run resulted from errors by Cooney and Boutles and a wild pitch by Wolfgang. There were over 5000 fans at the game.

Lawrence scored in the first inning. Carlstrom, the first man up, was a victim of Wolfgang's curves and fanned. The Lowell fans gave a great cheer. Midget Hagan, who hasn't made a home run since 1905, walked on four wide ones. Briggs singled to right and Hagan went to third. Briggs tried to purlin second but Lavigne was there and he went out. Arthur to Cooney. Luster singled to left and Hagan came home. The Lawrence right fielder tried to steal second, but was out a mile. Lavigne to Nye. From this time until the ninth, there was little doing, both teams going out in order. In the third inning, however, the Lowell fans were given a chance to cheer. The locals did not score, but Joe Ferrin, the Lawrence boy, on his first trip to the plate was presented a traveling bag. A great cheer went up. The next score came in the ninth inning when many of the fans were starting to leave the grounds. Miller sent the ball over the left field fence for a home run and tied up the game. Here the Lowell fans went wild with excitement and the first baseman was given an ovation. The hit was the best of the game and was responsible for the three extra innings that were necessary to decide the winner.

In the last of the ninth, Wolfgang gave a fine exhibition of twirling. Luster walked and went to second on Kennedy's sacrifice. A bases hit, and the runner went to third. With only one down and a man on third, the chances looked good for Lawrence to score and win the game, but Wolfe fanned the next two men up, Phoenix and Chase, and the game went on to the tenth.

In the last inning, the injury to Lavigne's ankle, which he sustained in the sixth inning, when he made a great attempt to score, but failed on a close decision, was finally responsible for the winning run. With Chase on third, owing to the fact that he got there from first base while Phoenix was being doubled up between home and third, Wolfgang pitched one that went wild and Chase came rambling home with the final tally.

Mike Donlin Has Braced

Mike Donlin is now the popular idol of the fans in Pittsburgh. The former Thespian is putting up a grand all around game and has braced up the Pirates' outfield wonderfully. Mike's big slice has won a number of games for his team of late, and the local experts are of the opinion that he will come pretty near leading the league in batting at the end of the season. At present he has a hitting average of .410. Last winter when Manager Clarke traded Vincent Campbell to Boston for Donlin many critics censured the Pittsburgh leader for making the trade. They figured Mike had seen his best days. According to Clarke, Donlin is worth three Campbells.

to one. The batteries were: Chesley and Veno for the Pitt team; Switzer and Smith for the Billerica team.

The Draught Boy Scouts defeated the Y. M. of St. Anne's, 22 to 20, Saturday.

Highland Boy Scouts lost to the Elliot Scouts Saturday, 7 to 5, in an interesting game.

The Suburban league results for Saturday's games were: Mystics 73, Westford 2; Graniteville 11, Beacons 7; Cubs 9, Indians 7. The Graniteville team leads the league with the Cubs second and the Y. M. C. A. Indians third.

BUNTING CLUB

WAS DEFEATED BY THE METHUEN TEAM

The United States Bunting cricket club opened its season Saturday at the grounds in South Lowell and were defeated by the Methuen team. The final score was Methuen 117 runs for two wickets. Buntings 112 runs for six wickets. Both teams did some heavy hitting. "Bill" Gath, batted in great form. He defended his wicket for nearly two hours, without giving an opportunity for an out. Haigh, of the visitors did the best work for his team. His score of 52 runs, not out, was the means of bringing victory to Methuen.

The game was very interesting and the 500 spectators were given many chances to applaud the performers during the game. The score:

GAME IS CALLED OFF
IN PHILADELPHIA

Pres. Ban Johnson Says
Team Will Not Play

PHILADELPHIA, May 20.—There will be no baseball game at Shibe park today. The Detroit club will not play another game in this or any other city until it is represented by its regular players. This was the edict promulgated by Ban Johnson, president of the American League, Saturday night after a conference which lasted practically from three in the afternoon up to 10 o'clock last night. President Shibe and Manager Mack, of the Athletics club, were the only persons closeted with Mr. Johnson. These three officials waited all afternoon and evening for the arrival of Frank Navin, president of the Detroit club, who was supposed to reach this city from Detroit about 5 o'clock. Up to midnight he had not arrived and had sent no word to President Johnson.

In discussing the status of the striking Detroit players and the situation their refusal to play had produced, Mr. Johnson said:

"The failure of the Detroit players to participate in the game with the Athletics Saturday at Shibe park out of sympathy for Ty Cobb, who has been indefinitely suspended for assaulting a spectator at a game in New York, has assumed proportions that far overshadow the mere suspension of the Tiger star. Everyone of the striking players has automatically suspended himself, and made himself ineligible to compete in a game under organized baseball control until he is reinstated by the national commission. By refusing to play a scheduled game all the players have violated a clause in their contract which makes them liable to fine not only by the Detroit club, but also by the National commission.

"The Detroit club will not appear on the field again until I am assured that it has a set of good players, who can compete with other teams of the league. There will be no more farces in the American league.

"I have no statement to make as to the disposition of the strike or possible punishment of the players until Mr. Navin arrives. He is the owner and president of the club, and as such it is only due him to first have the privilege of conversing with Manager Jennings, and what players as he sees fit."

Johnson was asked if Jennings would continue as the manager.

"I have had a very enjoyable two hours' talk with Hughes," was the response. "We discussed the matter fully, but took no action or discussed any procedure. We are waiting for Mr. Navin, and his presence is essential before anything is done."

The league president was asked if the striking players would go to Washington for the game scheduled at the capital for today.

"I do not care where they go or what they do," he said. "As I stated before, the club will not appear on the diamond again until it has good players and not rank amateurs."

Those that mean Delahanty, Crawford and the regular Tiger players will be eliminated," he was questioned.

"Not at all," he answered, "but a solution of the matter must first be reached before they are allowed to represent the Detroit franchise."

In answering a query if the seven other teams of the league would be asked, Mr. Johnson replied that he hoped the various clubs would be able to "hold their own men."

ARTHUR LAVIGNE'S ANKLE INJURED

Lowell's Star Catcher
Met With Accident
in Lawrence

ARTHUR LAVIGNE

Arthur Lavigne, Lowell's speedy catcher, who is also the classiest seen here so far this season, met with a painful injury in Saturday's game that may keep him out of the game for some time. He was on third in the sixth inning, and when Wolfgang hit to Keating, Lavigne, who had a good lead made an attempt to come home. He made a beautiful slide into the counting station, but was called out on a very close decision. In the slide, he had his right ankle badly injured. The accident delayed the game for a few minutes and many thought that the popular catcher had the ankle broken. After a few minutes' rest, Lavigne went back into the game, though playing under great pain. His exhibition of gameness was marvellous and he was loudly applauded. The injured member got worse as the game went on, but Arthur stuck until the game was over. Monahan, the other Lowell catcher, was sent to right field at the opening of the sixth, and this partially explains why Lavigne continued to work. Manager Gray informed him that he would bring Monahan in and send a pitcher to the outfield but the fast receiver said that he would stick to it. He put up a great game, but in the last inning when the wild pitch went back of him, he could not run to recover it in time to get his man. Much depends on Lavigne and if out of the game any length of time, his services will be greatly missed. He is playing a fast game and the Lowell fans hope that he will soon be back in the game.

NASHUA WAS DEFEATED

Lowell High Won the
Baseball Game

The Lowell High School ball team had an easy time defeating the Nashua school team at Washington park Saturday afternoon. The final score was 11 to 5. The Lowell team scored ten runs in the second inning, and after that there was nothing to it but Lowell. Desmond of the winners was the star at the bat. He got 4 hits out of 5 times at bat. Capt. Cawley also swung his club with good results. He "copped" three hits, including two doubles, out of five times at bat. Sturtevant pitched for the Lowell team and allowed the visitors but 7 hits. The fielding of both teams was very loose. Lowell making five errors, while the visitors made eight misplays.

"JOE" DONOHUE

PLAYED FINE GAME FOR DARTMOUTH SATURDAY

Joe Donohue, known to his many local friends as "Jiggs," the son of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel J. Donohue, continues to play a great game at second base for Dartmouth as shown in the game with Harvard Saturday. "Joe" covered the middle station with glory. He was a big factor in winning the game for the New Hampshire boys and the Lowell people who saw the game predict that "Joe" will be heard from in the national game.

CHELMSFORD

THE CEMETERIES FUND

AMOUNTS TO $5599.39

Ald. Cummings Says Perpetual Care Fund Will be Used Instead of Interest Money

The receipts from public collections up to last Saturday night amounted to $5,599.39, the monthly returns being as follows: January $900.00, February $425.50, March $1,155.12, April $1,552.50, and May up to the 18th, $716.27.

There is deposited in various banks and designated as the "Perpetual Care Sinking Fund," $207,000, which was created by former cemetery trustees who set aside $1 each year from each grave under perpetual care, and the expert accountant in his report, says that the fund is illiquid. Mr. Rex says that according to the terms under which the money was accepted, meaning the cemetery fund for the perpetual care of lots, the $207,000 has been diverted from the purpose for which the individual gifts of money were received. "The explanation given for diverting it," says Mr. Rex, "is that while the income on each gift of $100 was $4 it was decided by the cemetery authorities to set aside $1 each year as a sinking fund to care for extraordinary work, inasmuch as the amount charged against each fund each year did not amount to the income according to the agreement. The income from the perpetual care fund the past year has amounted to $2,751.57, yet the amount credited on account of income was $2,751.55. The reason for this difference of $2 is that the treasurer has placed a literal interpretation on the provision to pay four per cent and has placed each $100 on a four per cent, earning basis upon receiving it, although it did not begin to earn at the rate of four per cent until placed in a savings bank at the beginning of an interest-bearing period. It is no judgment that the ordinance should be repealed and a substitute passed providing that instead of four per cent being credited there should be the earnings of each fund, whatever it may be. My reason for this is that while savings banks pay four per cent, deposits at the present time, there is no guarantee that they will continue to do so, but will reduce the rate of interest. It can be plainly seen that if this should take place, it would be an expense to the city without any intent at the beginning that it should be. The city at the present time has an example of this character in the agreement existing in the Thomas Nesmith fund in which the city is now paying six per cent interest. I would also recommend that the $207,000 representing the perpetual care sinking fund be transferred to the fund from which it was taken, the perpetual care fund."

Contract for Flowers
There has been some controversy and some criticism of late in relation to the buying of flowers for public cemeteries. The flowers will be paid for out of the perpetual care fund of which Commissioner Cummings is trustee. Asked for a statement relative to the purchase of the flowers, Mr. Cummings said: "I consulted with the city solicitor as to my position in the matter and asked him if it would be necessary for me to pay the flowers through the purchasing agent's office and he told me that as trustee of the perpetual care fund for which the money for the flowers would be paid it was necessary for me to pay through the purchasing agent's office. After my conference with the city solicitor I went to the purchasing agent and told him what the city solicitor had said. I then notified the different florists, J. J. McMahon, Morse & Beal, Richard Griffith, W. J. Collins, H. B. Greene, John S. Holmes and Whitte & Co. The last three mentioned were the only ones to submit bids and their bids were as follows: Greene, $238.50; Holmes, $204.21, and Whitte & Co., $285.40. The bids were opened in the office of the superintendent of cemeteries by me and in the presence of Supd. Duckworth, Mr. Gilmore and Mrs. Riordan clerk. I instructed Mrs. Riordan to notify the bidders that the contract had been awarded to Mr. Holmes. I told her to give them the amount of the bids and I presume she did so."

SEASONABLE SALADS

Asparagus and watercress makes a delicious salad. Wash the cress and break it into bits, rejecting the coarser leaves. When ready to serve mix it with salad oil, vinegar, salt and pepper. Heap it in the center of a dish and surround it with leaf green and white asparagus tips.

Endive Salad

This is the way they serve endive salad in France: Wash, trim and tear apart a nice head of endive. Drain dry and heap in a salad bowl. This has been rubbed with a bruised clove of garlic. Rub the garlic on a broad crust in the middle of the salad for a little while, then pour over the endive a dressing made of two tablespoonfuls of oil to one of vinegar—tarragon if you have it on hand—salt, pepper to taste, half a teaspoonful of celery seed and a teaspoonful of anchovy paste or mushroom ketchup. Toss well together and serve before the green leaves wilt.

Brussels Sprout Salad

Put a pint of brussels sprouts in a cheesecloth and boil tender. While still warm sprinkle a little oil, vinegar, salt and pepper over them. When ready to serve arrange in pyramid shape on a bed of lettuce and sprinkle over them chopped onion, chopped olives, walnut meats or pecans and capers, about a teaspoonful of each, all chopped fine and mixed with two tablespoonfuls of lemon or grape juice. Let the mixture stand in a cold place for a little while, then serve just as it is or with mayonnaise.

Bermuda Salad

Free six tender sweet green peppers of seed and tough division walls and stem ends. Chop them fine and mix with one very large Spanish onion, half a teaspoonful of mustard, some of the juice drained from the onion, salt, pepper and the juice of a small lemon. Add to the dressing a piece of preserved ginger chopped fine. Arrange cups of crisp, tender lettuce leaves. Put a spoonful of the pepper and onion in each and pour over it a little of the dressing. Serve remainder of the dressing in a separate dish or bowl.

HOW TO BECOME THIN

There are some women who try to persuade themselves that they would rather be stout than thin; but, as a matter of fact, there are mighty few women, who, deep down in their hearts, do not consider too much flesh a beauty blemish.

Do you think the air would be full of reduction cures if merely health and comfort were at stake? A woman will cheerfully part like a porpoise when she carries too many pounds upstairs, will run the risk of fatty degeneration of the heart and kindred ills of over obesity, but tell her she is losing her looks and her figure and she gets in a panic at once and takes cures and systems of reducing all day.

Some one has said of "embonpoint," that middle aged monster for the attack of which there is no balm in Gilead. "If that is just 'embonpoint,' alas, moderate plumpness, what must 'fat' be?" Nothing short of a raging demon to the woman who finds too much flesh the bane of her existence.

If women would cut out laziness and too much eating they would get down to the root of the disease, instead of having to resort to all sorts of ridiculous cures.

The woman who exercises hard and sets into a violent perspiration by vigorous walking, housework or athletic games, walking up and down stairs a dozen times a day, will rarely have to read up on obesity cures.

Usually the woman inclined to flesh is self-indulgent. She much prefers a street car to her feet, groans even at making her own bed, never runs an errand she can get out of and plays bridge to an accompaniment of sweets all the bright days when she should be exercising in the open air.

The fat woman who doesn't like her food is so rare as to be a negligible quantity. Just so surely as a thing is fleshmaking does she date on it. She will eat candy by the pound, nibble cake whenever she gets a chance and never by any possibility turn down soups, salads or desserts. This at least when the flesh is at the controllable stage. Later she usually has to deny herself to keep herself alive.

clated. But if one studies the costumes from a sportsman's viewpoint the seeming lack of femininity in them is overruled.

For instance, the girl who climbs mountains must wear mannish garb. Petticoats are out of place in real mountain climbing, and the woman brave enough to make steep ascents is usually brave enough to don suitable garments.

The corduroy mountain suit seen in one of the illustrations has a divided skirt which separates and buttons divided skirt with the divided riding habit, but in the case of most bathing suits the bloomer effect is more to the fore.

The bathing suit pictured is one of the very newest of this year's modes and, as you see, is in bloomer style. The effect is graceful and modest because of the broad panels which fall at back and front, covering the division of the skirt almost completely. This bathing suit de luxe, as it were, is built of white bathing satin, a material of firm texture, said to be waterproof and very durable. It is being used for the most luxurious and expensive of suits for the ocean dip. On this particular white satin suit there is a trimming of navy blue satin. The cap, for some unknown sartorial reason, is of blue taffeta with an inconspicuous adornment of pompadour ribbon in tones of blue and cerise. The mingling of colors is one of the smart combinations of the spring season in both the millinery and dressmaking worlds. In the former realm this combination is probably among the best.

What the tennis enthusiast wears is mostly a matter of individual preference; but, no matter from which material the skirt of the costume is evolved, in length it must be short enough to escape the ground even when rubber soled, heelless shoes are worn. In the making of a tennis skirt the very important point of heels or no heels is often overlooked. When trying on the skirt everyday boots are seldom exchanged for the heelless tennis shoes; consequently the skirt that is the proper length when one has on the high heel boots touches the ground when worn above tennis footwear.

The tennis costume shown in the cut is a smart affair with a skirt of white flannel and a loose Norfolk blouse of white linen belted at the waist line with black patent leather. The most practical fabric for the tennis skirt is cotton ratine. If one cares to buy so expensive a material, but there are a number of cheaper materials, such as the new cotton corduroys, piques and crêpes—to say nothing of the old standby, butchers linen—that are very good.

A story of outing clothes would be hardly complete without a word or two concerning the stunning new motor coats which are modishly trimmed with suede this season.

The long motor coat of gray and white worsted is a happy example of the Vogue for suede trimmings. Belts, cuffs and collar are of gray suede, and on the cuffs and collar appear plings of white suede. Black and white buttons of large size add further contrast, and a white hat, gray veil and white buttoned boots complete a very chic motor costume.

CLOTH FROM SEAWEED

Cloth made from seaweed is the very latest thing. The seaweed used is found on the southern coast of South Australia. It grows on a limestone bottom, but the action of the tide through many centuries has sifted over it masses of shells and sand until the plant, forcing its way upward, lies on a deposit of its own fiber, intermixed with sand and shells, and varying in thickness from four to twenty-four feet. This fiber has been used for bedding and upholstery purposes, for rope, mats, linoleum, army blankets and paper.

Mixed with wool it weaves into an excellent cloth. The present difficulty is the expense of raising the fiber, ninety-nine tons of sand, shells and debris coming up with every ton of pure fiber.

PORCH PILLOWS

Wide wale pique resembling corduroy is a popular material for the making of hammock, porch and sun room pillows. It requires no decoration except a wide self border with wales running vertically and stitched on with a cotton of contrasting color. Burlap, too, is an effective and durable fabric for the manufacture of pillow tops that will lead an outdoor life during the summer. Probably the prettiest of these designs carried out in tones of burnt orange, outlined with black and with blades of grass and willows in green and blue green.

Cotton reps in tan shades are wonderfully good looking when treated with a central design outlined in hermonizing colors. The background is solidly stitched. This leaves the design in a spaciously outlined relief. Whipcord in tan, brown, dark green and red shades makes hard wearing pillow tops. When used in the motor car they should be piped with pliskin or morocco and laced together all around the edges over a morocco tongue.

the fiscal year which ends with next month will exceed 200 million dollars in value. Under this term, "luxuries" are included such articles as diamonds, art works, lace and embroideries, champagne, and other wines, tobacco and manufactures thereof, ostrich feathers, artificial flowers, toys, perfumes and cosmetics, jewelry, manufactures of gold and silver and numerous others of this general character.

In many of these articles, especially the more important ones, the imports of the fiscal year 1912 will exceed in value those of any earlier year. Art works, for example, show for the 9 months ending with March a total exceeding by 50 per cent. the highest record of any earlier year, and will approximate 40 million dollars in 1912 and 21 million in 1910.

Diamonds will also show a large total for the fiscal year 1912. The 9 months' figures thus far received by the bureau of statistics, department of commerce and labor, show for diamonds and other precious stones a total of 30½ million dollars, indicating for the full year a total of about 41 million dollars, thus exceeding the record of any earlier year except 1910, when the total was nearly 48 million dollars, and 1907, when the total was 42½ million. Uncut diamonds will amount to about one-fourth of the grand total of precious and semi-precious stones.

Laces and embroideries are also an important factor in the general group of "luxuries" or articles of voluntary consumption. They will amount to a value in the current year to about 44 million dollars. The growth in the importation of this great group has been very rapid, the total of 1902, a decade ago, having been less than 30 million dollars and the increase in the decade fully 50 per cent. This total of 44 million dollars includes laces and embroideries, edgings, insertings, lace-trimmings, neckties, lace-trimmings, window curtains, and other articles of for which official returns have been this general character, whether made of raw cotton, silk, or the group of raw materials usually termed "fibers," such as flax, ramie, etc. These manufactures from cotton, however, form more than three-fourths of the total value of the group.

The bureau of statistics, this year for the first time separates the group, "cotton, laces and embroideries," into its principal constituents. The first 9 months under this new and more detailed grouping shows, of cotton embroideries, about 13 million dollars; laces, about 11 million dollars; lace window curtains, three-quarters of a million dollars; nets and settings, three-quarters of a million; and hand-made laces, a little over a half million dollars.

Other articles and groups of articles which may be termed "luxuries" are tobacco and manufactures thereof, which will amount for the year to about 32 million dollars; toys, about 10 million dollars; ostrich and other feathers, artificial flowers, champagne and other wines, beads and ornaments, musical instruments, perfumes and cosmetics, and manufacture of gold and silver.

Europe is the section of the world from which most of these articles of luxury are drawn. Of the 30 million dollars' worth of art works imported in the nine months ending with March, France supplied 15½ million dollars' worth, the United Kingdom nearly 11 million dollars' worth, and Germany a little more than 1 million dollars' worth. Of cotton laces, embroideries, etc., imported, Switzerland supplied about one-third of the total, the remainder being drawn from France, Germany, and the United Kingdom. Cut diamonds are also drawn chiefly from Europe, though the product, in most cases, of the African mines. Of the 12 million dollars' worth of men's trappings imported in the latest period, France supplied 10 million dollars' worth, the United Kingdom 1 million dollars' worth, and Germany 1 million dollars' worth.

received 5 million dollars' worth from the United Kingdom, and 1 million dollars' worth from Belgium. Of the 13 million dollars' worth of diamonds, cut but not set, imported in the nine months ending with March, 7 million dollars' worth were from Belgium, 6½ million dollars' worth from the Netherlands, 3 1-2 million from France, and 1 1-3 million from the United Kingdom. Of the champagne imports, a very large proportion, approximately nine-tenths, are from France.

BILL FOR FREE SUGAR

The democrats in congress have prepared a bill providing for free sugar which would be a great boon to the people of this country. Sugar has been a great revenue producer for the government and the democrats plan to offset this loss of revenue by a tax on incomes of over $5000.

Senator Lodge has written a minority report for the senate committee on finance, opposing the free sugar idea on the ground that the removal of the sugar tariff would necessitate the imposition of other taxes fully as burdensome as that of sugar. A plea for the home industry is made and the men who have millions invested in sugar, but nothing is said in behalf of the masses who are taxed an average of eight dollars per family to meet the tariff on sugar. Lodge spices the old standpat republican tariff argument. The democratic "Excise Bill" will impose an income tax that will or should bring as much revenue as the tariff on sugar.

The people of this country have endured this sugar extortion too long. The beet sugar factories of the United States have a protection of three and a half times as much as those of Germany, Austria and France, and yet they pay the American farmer about the same for sugar beets as the European farmer receives. A high official of the sugar trust has said that the beet sugar industry is profitable under conditions of absolute free trade and that the industry has nothing to fear even from the annexation of Cuba. If that be true, and it has not been contradicted, then on what grounds does Senator Lodge make such a plea for the industry? It is simply to save the trust and the people who, according to his statement, have invested millions in sugar. He may be one of these investors himself. The democratic bill should become law. As usual with Lodge the masses are not considered except in a quest of votes.

THE GOVERNOR'S ACTION

Governor Ross in deciding not to interfere with the regular course of the law in the Richeson case has done what evidently appeared to his Excellency to be his plain duty. The governor could easily have evaded responsibility by referring the case to the executive council; but this would have been an admission that there was some cause for a commutation of the sentence, whereas the governor finds none whatever. The governor in this case has shown a proper respect for his oath of office and has the courage of his convictions. Had he been so disposed he could easily have found a plausible pretext for letting Richeson escape the death chair; but that would be an evasion of duty and failure to enforce the law; for if ever a murder was committed with premeditation and in cold-blooded heartlessness it was this. Let those who have sympathy for Richeson think of his position as a spiritual guide and a supposed exemplar of conduct, the pastor of a church and a Christian man. For such a man to take advantage of a member of his flock, an innocent and unsuspecting girl, was in itself a heinous crime; but to plan deliberately to poison her in order that he might be free to marry a lady of wealth, was the acme of fiendishness. The murder committed in the heat of lecher or in passion may have mitigating features; but the murder of Avis Linnell was not of that character. Moreover, Richeson confessed his guilt in his sober senses, so that there can be no question on that point. If ever a man deserved capital punishment in Massachusetts that man is Richeson.

TO IMPEACH A JUDGE

The New York Bar Association is collecting data for the impeachment of a judge who is charged with a too liberal exercise of his power to set free the guilty. If any judge abuses his power he should be impeached before the proper tribunal; but in the application of the recall, if it were in force, there would be no means of determining whether the judge is guilty of any misdemeanor, or whether he was falsely accused. To correct abuses among the judiciary greater facilities should be provided for the impeachment of judges so that any judge guilty of any abuse of his power may be tried and if found guilty removed. The recall simply says the judge to be ousted is a bad man and he must be removed. It is but right that a judge should be treated in a judicial manner even by the citizens, but this never can be done by the recall.

RECKLESS AUTO DRIVING

The accident on the boulevard in which one man was killed outright and two others perhaps fatally injured was the result of reckless speeding. The trouble is, that few men realize the danger of driving a high power machine at the rate of forty or fifty miles an hour along any road, especially at night. If a tire comes off or an axle breaks, the result is disaster. Moreover when men go out for a good time they should select a steady old farm or stable horse in preference to an auto if they care anything for their safety.

THE SALISBURY BEACH BILL

If the state is to make a reservation of Salisbury beach why should the cities of the Merrimack Valley foot the bill? The state can recoup itself for the outlay needed by leasing the lots which the present owners want to sell. The owners of the land may fare better by taking what they receive from the state than by keeping up a warfare with the lessees to force purchase of the lots.

At Fitchfield they say there are so many social activities and so many consequent expenses among fraternities of the High School that going to the school is a very expensive affair. Wonder if that could be said of any other High School—Brookline Enterprise.

The people of Lowell can rejoice that no such condition of affairs exists in this city where the High School fraternities went out of existence some time ago. They served no good purpose and were liable to lead to abuses.

Seen and Heard

Somebody says that everybody ought to eat an apple every day, and perhaps it is good advice, but see what happened to Adam!

If every man had as much money in the bank as he has rubbish in the attic of his house, he would be comfortably fixed for life.

An entertaining talker is seldom any great amount of help in a business office.

Perhaps some day when Mr. Luther Burbank has a little spare time, he will win universal gratitude by developing a string bean without strings.

Putting each chocolate in a box in a little lined paper plate may please the girls, but to the hard-hearted man it looks like a scheme for selling paper at seventy-five cents a pound.

The only reason some men don't go into bankruptcy sooner is that it is so hard to borrow money.

Yes, the cost of living has certainly increased. In the old days people used to be satisfied with tallow candles which they dipped themselves. Now they want electric lights.

A woman would rather a man would love her a little less, if he would only tell her of it more.

If a man by chance gets a $100 bill into his possession for a few days, he generally exhibits it to all his friends.

Some men would rather be rich than famous, and others would rather be famous than rich, but most of us would prefer to be both.

TO THE DOWNHEARTED

The man who constantly complains. And constantly is blue. Should have no cause to be surprised. Because his friends are few. For no one really, truly likes. To hear another groan. And every one has woes enough. With troubles of his own.

So when in trouble, do not go. To friends, to tell the tale. They really, truly do not care. To hear your plaintive wail. But get your teeth, and do your best. To bear it, as you can. Just hide your pain, when trouble comes. And face it like a man!

LIKE A RELATED BIRD

Love comes to men like a belated bird; He through the night hours forgets to sing. And folds in darkling woods his timid wing. Nor knows himself a prophet of the word.

From moss-ribbed turrets of earth's steepest trees, When loud-voiced night hath slumbered, Viewing anew his plaintive old delight, He thrills to such as chance his ecstasies.

And those who hear his glad, full-throated song. Much share his passion to the end of days. And those who see his shadow, these always. Must search for one to whom it doth belong.

But they who see Love's self and not his shade, May ever hear him singing in the glade. —Coningsby Dawson.

THE DUTCH GOVERNMENT

Sends Notes of Protest to Portugal

LISBON, Portugal, May 20.—The government is greatly disturbed over revolts which have broken out at Timor (Malay Archipelago), Macao (China), Goa (Portuguese India), and Bihé (Africa). The most important outbreaks are at Timor and Macao. According to official telegrams all the natives of Timor are in complete revolt against constituted authority. They number several thousand, and being of the Malay family, are described as very fierce and warlike. Many of them, however, are educated and both read and write Portuguese. They are well armed with rifles and have field guns which were captured from the Portuguese troops. Their chief stronghold is at Manafé, situated in the heart of the mountains, some of which range as high as 5000 feet in altitude. They have, however, advanced towards the coast and approached near to the capital, Dilly, which at last accounts they were attacking. The Portuguese have already lost a considerable number of men and a number of civilians who were assisting the regular troops were also killed. The government has ordered forward an expedition of about 500 men with fourteen field guns.

The Dutch government has sent several notes to Portugal, protesting at the revolt on the ground that it is extending to Dutch territory. The Dutch are inclined to blame the Portuguese for the outbreak which they say results from the fact that the authorities have doubled the taxes which the natives are unable to pay. It is understood that Holland has made another proposal to purchase the Portuguese part of Timor, but it is entirely probable that Portugal will refuse the offer.

The situation at Goa in India is scarcely any better. The natives of Satary have carried their revolt to practically all the Portuguese territory. They have seized several Portuguese forts. As the troops were unable to resist the rebels, the natives had an opportunity to pillage and murder freely. Entire villages are described as smoking ruins. Hundreds of people have been killed or have disappeared. Women and girls have been seized in Indian villages, taken to the mountains and turned into domestic slaves. The richest are held for ransom. The government is sending a punitive expedition of 200 men with six quick-firing guns, pointing out at the same time that it is impossible to send more because of the necessity of fitting out the expedition to Timor. Another difficulty in the way of sending out punitive expeditions is the heavy drag upon the treasury of the Republic whose condition does not permit of any considerable expenditure.

With the colonial situation anastrophic, the internal political situation here is rapidly giving rise to many fears and people are openly talking of the possibility of a "coup d'état." The conservative party, under the leadership of Dr. Antonio Jose Almeida has declared open war on the government, which is controlled and supported by the democratic party headed by Dr. Alphonso Costa. This struggle of parties is so acute that the government is continuing with great difficulty, and by the constitution parliament cannot be dissolved. The "coup d'état" is being arranged by leaders of the democratic party.

Gen. Bello, with the assistance of the government, to enter parliament by force and expel Dr. Almeida, and his followers, replacing them by democrats who shall be loyal to the government. The democrats believe that this could be accomplished with little if any bloodshed. Should this move be carried out, it is recognized that Dr. Costa would be practically the dictator of Portugal, as it is likely that the president of the republic, Dr. Manuel Arriaga, who is an intimate friend of Dr. Almeida, would be immediately deposed and Dr. Costa or some representative of Costa chosen president.

The question of the treatment of political prisoners is being heatedly discussed in the newspapers. This is due to the destitution that the inmates of Limoeiro fortress, the central prison of Lisbon, have been often placed in dungeons with little air or light, as a means of forcing them to reveal their supposed secrets. Although these dungeons are wet and damp, prisoners are only allowed to wear a light shirt and trousers. Their food was bread and water. It is charged, moreover, that when they refused to disclose their secrets, they were beaten with terrible wounds. These revolts, which came out through newspaper interviews with some of the prisoners, have caused a great sensation and have induced the government to promise to begin an inquiry and to put an end to any cruel treatment.

The British and Portuguese governments are now in negotiations for the protection of the port of Lisbon. The idea is to make it a strong basis for naval operations. The old fort of Almada, situated across the Tagus in front of Lisbon, will be demolished and reconstructed with the latest improvements and armed with heavy artillery. The forts of Bom Cusseco and Sao Juliao de Barra will be likewise improved and fitted out with new artillery. These improvements form a part of the defense of the Portuguese coast and the strategic triangle of Madeira, Lagos and Cape Vert, which has been included in the provisions of the Anglo-Portuguese alliance.

ELECTION OF SENATORS

Is Problem Facing the Mexican People

MEXICO CITY, May 20.—Mexico is face to face with the hard problem of effecting the election of senators and deputies to the national assembly under unprecedented circumstances. The laws calling for the direct election of members of the assembly is to be in force for the first time and the states of Chihuahua and Sinaloa in the north and Morelos and Guerrero in the south are partially or entirely beyond the jurisdiction of the Central government and in a state of open war.

President Madero does not think himself justified in suspending the elections until the country is pacified, since he has a congress which is made up in its majority of partisans of the old regime. On the other hand, he fears the result of campaign propaganda which would necessarily precede the election of a new assembly.

Local political conditions in the state of Oaxaca, where the governor, Benito Juarez Nazari, died a few weeks ago, has already assumed a condition of unrest which is alarming. The popular candidate for the governorship is Gen. Felix Diaz, nephew of the ex-president, who was defeated by Juarez in the last elections, in a campaign which was not free from bloodshed. Gen. Vito Alessio Robles, who, until recently, had charge of the campaign against the revolutionists in Morelos, Puebla and Guerrero, is the government candidate. He is not popular in his home state and it is believed that an attempt to force him on the people would result in a general uprising in that state, of which it has been said: "When Oaxaca rises, the government backs its trunk."

Political Difficulties Gen. Pascual Orozco, leader of the present revolution, has added still further to the political difficulties by making it plain, through a message to the national assembly, that the revolution, in case it were to triumph, would refuse to recognize any officials elected at this time, whether state or federal.

Huge Monolith A huge monolith was unearthed in the capital a short time ago during excavations which are being carried on for the extension of water mains. The stone is in the form of a plumed serpent, and it is thought may have been one of the corner stones of the ancient Aztec temple of Tzotzilatlán. The find has been turned over to the national museum with accurate measurements as to the place in which it was found. A committee will be chosen to study the stone and the place of its discovery, with a view to fixing the exact location of the ancient temple.

Retires From Ring Harper Lee, the only American bull-fighter and consequently of international fame, has retired from the ring and was confirmed in the Episcopal faith in Guadalajara. His retirement was somewhat unusual, although not according to the best rules of the profession. In accordance with time-worn usage, it is customary for the retiring "matador" to cut off the short queue, which is the badge of the profession, before leaving the ring after his last fight.

EVERYBODY

Who knows about good clothes, knows that Rogers-Peet's is the best ready-for-service clothing in America.

Not all of you may know, however—that every pattern used by Rogers-Peet & Co. is exclusive.

Not only the imported suitings that we show—but all of the cloths from American mills are distinctive patterns, absolutely controlled by Rogers-Peet & Co. and not to be found elsewhere. It pleases most any man's fancy to feel that he isn't going to run against a lot of suits on the street like the one he's wearing.

Imported tweeds from Scotland, Scotch chevrons, soft faced cassimeres and worsteds in designs and color combinations not to be found outside our store and not dear—

Lee's fiancee, in defiance of custom, cut off his queue at a dinner which was given him at the home of her parents in San Luis Potosi.

Reporter Protested

Jesus Flores Magón, minister of the interior in President Madero's cabinet, is the principal source of official information in Mexico City, and receives the reporters from the local papers every evening, official duties permitting. Not long ago he was asked for some information as to the movements of a Lieutenant of Emiliano Zapata, the rebel leader in the south.

It happened that this rebel's name was the same as that of one of the reporters, and turning to him Magón said: "By the way, what is your cousin doing at present?" The reporter protested indignantly, disclaiming any relation to the rebel, whereupon Mr. Magón said: "I see no reason for you to be offended. I have brothers who are anarchists and see no cause why you should not have relatives who are Zapatistas."

dent on BoulevardThe Body of J. B. Morin Who Was Killed in the Same Accident Was Removed to His Home in Nashua

Alphonse Bibault, one of the three men who were seriously injured, while another was killed in an automobile accident which occurred last Friday evening on the Pawtucket boulevard, died this afternoon as a result of his injuries.

Alphonse Bibault was a prominent resident of this city. He was an ex-alderman and a large owner of real estate. He was born at St. Flavien, Que., 54 years ago and 20 years later he came to this city with his family. In Lowell he secured employment at his trade, at which he worked for a couple of years, later going into business for himself as a contractor. His career was very successful, and after a few years he was one of the largest owners of real estate in this city.

Mr. Bibault was a member of several fraternal and social organizations and was very popular. In 1907, although he had never meddled with politics, he was elected alderman on the republican ticket and the following year he refused to be a candidate. He is survived by a mother, Mrs. Olivier Bibault of Marlboro, a wife and five children, Mrs. Richard O'Connell, Mrs. Eugene Cantin, Philippe, Willie and Romeo Bibault, all of this city; two brothers, Elisee and Napoleon ter being employed in the mills of the latter city for some time he secured employment as insurance collector and was doing a very successful business at the time of his death.

Deceased was a member of Les Canados Americains, Court Marquette, P. of A. He was survived by his wife, who was formerly Miss Rose Laliberte, daughter of Narcisse Laliberte of Nashua, and three children, Rose, Lillian and Vincent. The funeral will be held tomorrow.

Mr. Alphonse Bibault's condition remains the same. He is suffering from a fracture of the base of the skull. Mr. Joseph Surprenant has improved some and the doctors hope to save his right leg which is fractured in two places. He will recover.

The Brockton baseball team made its first appearance of the season at Spaulding park this afternoon and although the team is holding down the first position at the present time the Lowell team gave the Shoe City aggregation a hot battle. The game was a good one and although the attendance was not large, owing to the unfavorable weather, there was plenty of excitement and many good plays. Cooney was occupying a seat in the bleachers, suffering from a broken finger. Wolfgang took his place at short.

Lavigne who had his ankle injured was out of the game and Joe Monahan was behind the bat, it being the first game that he has played with Lowell this season. Magee made his first appearance today since he was hit by a pitched ball several weeks ago.

The lineup was as follows:

LOWELL	BROCKTON
Miller, 1b	cf. Maloney
Magee, 1b	lf. Smith
De Groff, rf	cf. Howard
Rising, cf	3b. Boardman
Boultes, 3b	1b. Barry
Nye, 2b	ss. J. Sullivan
Wolfgang, ss	2b. H. Sullivan
Monahan, c	c. Wadleigh
Maybohm, p	p. Upham

First Inning

Maloney was the first man to approach the plate and he whanged the ball into left field for a single. Smith made several attempts to make a hit but the best he could do was to strike out and Howard followed with a fly to Rising. Boardman was the third man to die, flying to De Groff.

In the latter half of the inning Miller went out on strikes and Magee fled to Howard. De Groff singled and Rising did similar. Rising tried to steal second. The pitcher had the ball and when Rising started to steal the pitcher threw to second, but the throw was bad and De Groff scored. Boultes hit along the third base line but Boardman threw him to first and Rising scored. Boultes going to third. Nye closed the inning by sending the ball in the direction of third base. Boardman gathered in the ball and throwing the runner out at first.

Score—Lowell 2, Brockton 0.

Second Inning

The visitors scored one run in the second inning, while the Grays failed to send a man across the plate. Barry hit a line drive to Boultes and J. Sullivan singled to the left garden. H. Sullivan went out on strikes. Wadleigh singled to center field and J. Sullivan scored. Upham fanned the breeze.

Wadleigh gathered in a foul fly which Wolfgang knocked and Monahan sent a fly along the first base line and the pitcher, catcher and first baseman of the visiting team made a rush for the ball but none caught it. The runner was called out for interfering. Maybohm was third out on strikes.

Score—Lowell 2, Brockton 1.

Third Inning

In the third inning Brockton scored one run but the home team went them one better. Maloney was the first person to handle the willow and he fled to Magee, the latter making a beauty one hand catch. It was one of the best catches made on the local grounds this season and Magee had to jump into the air for the ball. Smith hit to Wolfgang and never reached first. Howard sent the ball to center field for a two bagger and Smith scored. Boardman hit to Boultes and was out at first. Barry struck out.

Miller singled to center field and Magee sacrificed. De Groff fled to Smith who made a good running catch. Rising popped a fly to H. Sullivan who dropped it and Miller scored. Boultes knocked out a three bagger to right field and Rising scored. Nye was third out on a fly to Smith.

Score—Lowell 4, Brockton 2.

Wolfgang hit to Boardman and was out at first and Monahan was second out on a fly to Boardman. Maybohm singled to left. Miller hit to Boardman who threw to J. Sullivan, getting Magee at second.

Score—Lowell 4, Brockton 2.

Fifth Inning

Maybohm handed out a free pass to Smith at the opening of the fifth but Howard fled to Rising. Smith then stole a march and went to second. Boardman fled to Magee and Barry died to Nye.

Lowell came near scoring in the latter half of the inning but Wadleigh assisted by Howard prevented the Lowell boys from making a tally. Magee fled to Smith and De Groff followed with a single to left and Rising then singled to the right garden. Boultes fled to Howard and De Groff tried to reach home but Howard sent the ball home and Wadleigh nailed De Groff at the plate.

Score—Lowell 4, Brockton 2.

Sixth Inning

The Sullivan were one and two in the sixth inning but although one of them made a hit it did not count for anything. J. Sullivan fled to Magee and his brother followed with a single to left but he died on first. Wadleigh fled to Magee and Upham hit to Boultes and was out at first.

Lowell scored another run in the latter half of the inning. Nye singled to left and went to second on Wolfgang's sacrifice. Nye started to steal third and Wadleigh threw bad and he went home. Monahan was retired on strikes. Maybohm fled to left field and Smith made a good catch, retiring the side.

Score—Lowell 5, Brockton 2.

Seventh Inning

There was nothing doing in the seventh inning. Maloney fanned, Smith fled to Rising, and Howard fled to Magee.

Miller went out on strikes. Magee fled to Maloney and De Groff fled to Smith.

Score—Lowell 5, Brockton 2.

Eighth Inning

Boardman hit to Magee and died at the initial base. Barry hit through Nye. J. Sullivan then awaited the ball to left field for a single and his brother, H. Sullivan, fled to Magee. Wadleigh singled to left and Barry crossed the plate. Upham singled and then stole second and Maloney fled to first after being hit by a pitched ball. Smith singled, De Groff allowed the ball to go by him and Wadleigh, Upham and Maloney scored. Howard was third out, Boultes to first.

It looked bad for the home team in the eighth inning Rising approached the plate and the first ball that Upham handed him he sent it over the left field fence for a home run. Boultes after making about eight fouts singled to left field. Nye sacrificed him. Wolfgang fled to Smith. Monahan singled to left field and Boultes scored. Maybohm went out, Boardman to first.

Score—Lowell 7, Brockton 7.

Ninth Inning

With the score tied Boardman was the first man up in the ninth. He sent the sphere to Wolfgang and was out at first. Barry fled to Boultes. J. Sullivan went out Boultes to Miller. Miller singled to left field. Magee sacrificed. Miller stole third. De Groff got hit by a pitched ball and Wadleigh fled to first. Rising fled to J. Sullivan. De Groff stole second. Been Denounced by Labor Organizations--
No Date Has Been Set for the Trial

SALEM, May 20.—In spite of the protests of the government, another continuance, this time for an indefinite period, was granted today in the case against Joseph Etor and Arturo Giovanni, charged with being connected with the shooting of a woman during the Lawrence strike.

When the case came up in the superior court today for trial on the indictment charging the two men with being accessories before the murder of Anna Lopizzo, J. P. Mahoney, their counsel, asked for a second postponement of the trial.

District Attorney Atwill pointed out that the frequent postponements had been condemned by numerous labor organizations, that the government was ready to proceed and that if the case was not tried soon he should ask for a postponement until fall. He expressed himself as against trying such cases in summer.

The court granted the request for a postponement but set no time and immediately the sitting of the court was adjourned.

The first man up in the second half of the inning was Maybohm who went out on three strikes. Miller fled to Maloney. Magee was third out on a fly which Smith caught.

Score—Lowell 7, Brockton 7.

Twelfth Inning

Sullivan was the next batter, hit to Wolfgang who threw home getting Barry at the plate. Wadleigh singled to center. McLean went in to bat for Upham and fled to Magee in deep left field.

Jake Boultes was the next batter. He hit to the pitcher who threw De Groff out at third. Nye struck out and Wadleigh threw the ball to Boardman, who caught Rising trying to reach third.

Score—Lowell 7, Brockton 7.

Thirteenth Inning

Wolfgang was the first up in Lowell's half, and took first on a base on balls. Monahan bunted to Gaw, who threw to first but Barry dropped the ball and both men were safe. Maybohm hit to Gaw, who threw to third getting Wolfgang. Miller struck out. Magee drew a free pass. With three men on bases De Groff fled to H. Sullivan.

At this point the game was called by the umpire.

NEW YORK, May 20.—When the second trial of the divorce suit brought by Mrs. Ethel Croker Green, daughter of Richard Croker, against John J. The court refused the request and counsel for Green withdrew, letting the case go by default. The first trial resulted in a disagreement. Green was an instructor at a riding academy when Miss Croker met him.

WOULD ABOLISH COUNCIL

BOSTON, May 20.—In vetoing the bill increasing the salary of members of the executive council, Gov. Foss told the legislature today that his body of advisers were of little public use and that the council should be abolished. He said that the position of councillor in Massachusetts was mainly an honorary one in which the salary was of secondary consequence. The governor also pointed out that the authority for appointing and removing public officials should rest with the chief executive. In conclusion he recommended a submission to the people of the question of abolishing the council and conferring full power upon the governor.

FREE RELIGIOUS MOVEMENT

BOSTON, May 20.—Many Unitarians and others connected with the so-called free religious movement came here today for the annual celebration of anniversary week marking the 57th anniversary of the American Unitarian association.

Among the guests are Abdul Baha, the Persian prophet, and Professor William Morgan of the University of California, both of whom will be heard at nearly all the prominent meetings.

The week began with the annual meeting of the ministerial union in Channing hall, at which Rev. Jenkin Lloyd Jones of Chicago made the principal address. Later came the annual meetings of the women's alliance and the Unitarian service pension society. The annual meeting of the American Unitarian association will be held tomorrow.

SHIP OF MYSTERY
HAS BEEN SEIZED

Captain Wants Dynamite and Other Property

BOSTON, May 20.—Again the "Ship of Mystery," the Ned P. Walker of Boston, has come into the limelight through the appearance in Havana of her captain, asking that a fine of $100 be refunded and the dynamite and diving apparatus which was seized at Guantanamo on April 20 released. And he says if he doesn't get satisfaction he will stir up an international row.

Beginning with her charter by the Boston Wrecking company, the way she was fitted out and the secrecy of her destination, interest, at first aroused by curiosity but deepened by later incidents in Cuban waters, has intensified, and the "Ship of Mystery" will be surely kept in the spotlight for some time.

Added to this is the fact that she was supposed to have been rigged out to salvage the iron from the Merrimack sunk in the entrance to Santiago de Cuba by Hobson and his crew of three to prevent the escape of Cervera's fleet.

Clearing from Boston on Feb. 20, the Ned P. Walker reached Santiago de Cuba on March 12. There she was immediately the object of suspicion on account of the dynamite on board, and only through intercession of the American consul was authority given to release the dynamite and diving apparatus. Capt. Smith, instead of sailing for Boston had gone to Havana and there got leave to salvage some of the vessels which were sunk in the neighborhood of Santiago in 1898.

Having cleared up the matter to the satisfaction of the Santiago customs authorities, Capt. Smith asked permission to leave the harbor for a few days, but was refused unless he stated for what reason. He was told, however, that he could clear for Guantanamo and once outside could do as he pleased. Such a clearance was taken. The customs officials were much mystified when, seven days later, the Ned P. Walker sailed into Guantanamo, although it was but a seven-hour sail from Santiago.

Again becoming suspicious and annoyed because he could get no information as to where the vessel had been during the seven days between ports, the collector at Guantanamo assessed a fine of $100 and seized 80 cases of dynamite, seven boxes of detonators, five diving dresses, two metal diving helmets and two divers' pumps.

COST OF LIVING

"CITY WIDE" CONGRESS TO MAKE AN INVESTIGATION

BALTIMORE, Md., May 20.—A committee of the "City wide" congress of Baltimore which had been formed to inquire into the causes of the high cost of living will this week submit its report. Summarized the report states that prices have been raised for the following reasons: Increased supply of gold; price control of exchanges and agreements; tariff on foodstuffs; abuse of cold storage to help corner markets; decreased labor on farms; decrease of farming around the city; excessive profits by middlemen due to the many small shops; too much handling between producer and consumer; too much purchasing on much advanced prices; growing luxuriousness of the people.

Among remedies suggested is the establishment of a national and international congress and clearing house to regulate the relative value of gold and staple products at stated intervals. The removal of tariff on foodstuffs and laws controlling cold storage making corners in foodstuffs illegal is also urged.

LINCOLN MEMORIAL HALL

CLAREMONT, Va., May 20.—Lincoln Memorial hall, the latest addition to the buildings of the Temperance, Industrial and Collegiate Institute here, was dedicated here today with elaborate exercises presided over by Gov. Mann. The institute which now has a plant worth three-quarters of a million dollars and is attended by negro students from all over the country, was founded 20 years ago by John Smallwood, a negro educator, with ten pupils and less than $50 in cash. Mrs. John Hey was the chief contributor to the $50,000 fund for Lincoln hall.

MANUFACTURERS' ASSOCIATION

NEW YORK, May 20.—A national co-operative campaign by employers and workmen was inaugurated here today at the opening of the 14th annual convention of the National Association of Manufacturers which was attended by manufacturers from every part of the United States with delegations of their workmen, foremen and factory superintendents.

The co-operative campaign is designed to improve the conditions and efficiency of American industrial methods through education on the questions of accidents, prevention, industrial training for apprentices, immigration and fire protection.

POLICE COURT SESSION

Several Offenders Disposed of Today

Today's session of the police court proved to be a long drawn out affair, not owing to the number of cases on the docket, but due to the fact that there was a Billerica case which occupied several hours. The case was that of Alva Nichols, charged with trespassing on land of his uncle, Charles Martindale, and also threatening Martindale. During the course of the trial various phases of the law were produced by counsel and argued at considerable length. Lawyer James Stuart Murphy appeared for the government and Lawyer Daniel J. Donahue for the defense.

The complainant, Charles H. Martindale, testified that he owns six lots of land in Billerica and that his nephew, the defendant, resides on adjoining land and that Nichols frequently passes through his land. Witness said that last fall he placed a sign on the land, forbidding people to trespass, but that Nichols had disregarded the sign.

Continuing the complainant said, "Last Tuesday night about seven o'clock Nichols passed across my land and when I ordered him off he threatened me with a knife. When he drew the knife I seized a clothes pole in order to protect myself and Nichols ran towards his house."

On cross-examination the witness said that there had been a dispute over the boundary lines and that at the suggestion of a friend he had a surveyor visit the premises and make a survey.

Mrs. Martindale testified that last Tuesday night Mr. Nichols was crossing her land and she ordered him to get off and he refused to do so.

The defendant, Nichols, said he had sold the land to his uncle, and also referred to the dispute over the boundary line, but said he never trespassed on the land owned by Martindale, neither did he ever threaten the man.

Several witnesses were called and in substance corroborated the testimony offered by the defendant.

At the conclusion of the hearing of the testimony the court found the defendant not guilty on both complaints and ordered him discharged.

Placed on Probation
Aleck Narinkiev, charged with having threatened his wife, entered a plea of guilty and after counsel in the case had conferred with the court the defendant was given a suspended sentence of one month in jail and placed on probation for six months.

Drunken Offenders
Elizabeth Clark was charged with being drunk and was sentenced to five months in jail. She appealed. George E. Stone was sentenced to six months in jail. John P. Buckley will spend the next three months in Thonokko street and Mary Vincent will have a vacation of two months at the same institution.

Patrick Lowe pleaded for one more chance, but owing to his record the court sent him to jail for one month. He appealed.

Frank McManis, James F. Walsh, and Lucy P. Thompson, also charged with drunkenness, were each fined $6. Martin Burlewicz was fined $5 because he got drunk on Sunday.

There were several first offenders who were fined $2 each and ten simple drunks were released before the opening of court.

Pompeii's Newly Unearthed Treasures Have Aroused Men of Knowledge

Upper—Recently excavated house in Pompeii. Lower—Remains of man found attached to broken bed.

Perhaps a text for a lecture on the vagaries of rhetoric is to be found in the assertion of Professor Vittorio Spinazzola that the recent excavations of Pompeii mark the dawning of a "new era" on the city. How can a "new era" dawn on a city buried for 1832 years under cinders and ashes, buried so completely that for more than 1500 years its very existence was forgotten? But the professor is the enthusiastic archaeologist in charge of the excavations at Pompeii which have brought forth such interesting results, and his lapse may be forgiven.

As the work of excavation advances—the slowly the scholarly world, but recently accelerated—we learn more and more of the actual life of the Hellans who lived in the year 79 A. D. It was in that year, on Aug. 24, that Mount Vesuvius burst forth in terrific might and in one day overwhelmed Pompeii, Herculaneum and Stabiae, lying on and near the gulf of Naples, about twenty miles south of the present site of the city of Naples.

The disaster was sudden and overwhelming, and about 2000 persons perished in Pompeii alone. The city was buried in cinders and ashes and failed from the memory of man. For fifteen hundred years it lay untouched. In 1871-1876 an aqueduct for the nearby town of Torre Annunziata was tunneled under the ruins, but no substantial notice was taken of them.

It was not until 1748 that the Neapolitan government acted in the matter of bringing forth the objects of immense historical and archaeological interest, in some cases of material value, which lay under the ashes. Since then the excavations have been fairly continuous.

The present government of Italy, successor of the kingdom of Naples, holds in its own hands the right to excavate and will under no circumstances permit outsiders to dig in the ruins. Time after time foreign scientists, eager to uncover more rapidly for the world the rich treasures of Pompeii, have proffered assistance. Foreign capitalists, interested in history and art, have offered money to help in the work. All these offers have met with polite and firm refusal. Italy wishes to retain for itself all the glory of excavating what was once the country seat of some of its wealthiest citizens.

The recent excavations in Pompeii have aroused men of knowledge throughout the world, for they have been made in a section of the city which had been considered unpromising. They lie in what has been named the "Street of Abundance," running northeast from the center of the city. Its name is a good description for its houses were not only homes of luxury and of business of high grade. For example, a recent dispatch from Rome says: "Six houses have been brought to light by the excavators in the ruins of Pompeii. One of them was found to contain 300 valuable bronzes. Another which, it is believed, belonged to a banker, contained 3500 golden pieces as well as a number of Greek and Latin books."

Among the remains of interest recently found in the "Street of Abundance" is the house of Obellius Firmus, believed to have been one of the wealthiest citizens of Pompeii, with the skeletons of himself, his wife, two children and two slaves. The skeleton shown in the picture is that of a man who sought refuge in a tree from the storm of hot ashes. But it proved a vain hope. The branch broke, he fell and was overwhelmed, and now, eighteen centuries later, his body, with the treacherous bough, has been unearthed and will be exhibited as all that remains of an ancient Pompeian.

KEITH'S LE PALACE D'ART

The present week at Keith's will be devoted to vaudeville and songs of the Sunny South, in the days prior to the war. An even dozen of the best known of old ballads will be sung by the quartet, and they should arouse great interest, for the singers are far above the average and the great amount of care which will be given the entire presentation should receive favorable comment. In quartet, trio, duet and solo form the numbers will be rendered, and among them are: "My Old Kentucky Home," "Old Black Joe," "Dixie," "Maryland," "Carry Me Back to Ole Virginia," "Swanee River," "Marching Through Georgia," "Massa's in the Cold, Cold Ground," "Those Golden Slippers," "My Southern Rose." The photo plays will prove a superb collection, offered by the Keith company, shows a dozen ranch girls out on a rampage, lassoing policemen, riding like mad and cutting up in rampaging fashion. Another is entitled "Egypt" and scenes from that old land will figure in it. "His Lesson," quaintly humorous, "The Eye That Never Sleeps," a striking detective story, and "The Spider's Web," tensely dramatic, are the other films. The orchestra will give the very latest selections from operas and musical comedies. Seats for all performances may be obtained.

The remainder of the vaudeville attractions are: Miles & Raymond have a vaudeville comedy skit that has kept the public roaring for several years, Brill & Barry, two expert jugglers, that have several sensations in their class specially, Barrett Bros. are good singers and dancers.

MERRIMACK SQUARE THEATRE

There are several things contained in this week's bill at the Merrimack Square theatre that should appeal to lovers of good vaudeville. In the lead come The Temple Players, that popular company of entertainers who have made a name for themselves among local theatregoers by their cleverness in their past performances, presenting "The Sunny South," a delightful musical comedy. At the Merrimack Square, the principal soloist of the cast, will be heard in some new and pleasing numbers and the others to contribute solo work are James Byrnes, Jack Allman, Miss Helen Nichols, George Lewis, Miss Winifred Gillman, Miss Lawless and Miss Murphy. The piece will be given in all its detail, the stage settings being especially elaborate. Amusing novelties will mark the performance.

Kenney and Hollis, comedians of recognized ability, will give their laughable comedy sketch, "The College Students." This pair of fun-makers has won merited approbation in all theatrical centres, and are well known locally because of their former engagements here. Their latest offering has many new and bright bits of comedy that should be appreciated by all.

Kenyon, Allen and Kenyon, comedy jugglers, are real leaders in their class. They introduce not only rich comedy, but also numerous difficult stunts with Indian clubs. They're especially good.

Emile Reese, violinist, has an excellent repertoire of selections that should assist in making the week's bill one of unusual merit, and Arthur Wesley, baritone, will be the vocalist for the week, who will be heard in some new song hits of the season. The Photo-plays for the first three days of the week will compare favorably with the best shown in Lowell. They are the best outputs of the biggest manufacturers of picture films in the country and are shown in this city for the first time. The views of present-day events are also interesting and are greatly appreciated. Remember that this theatre is "the coolest spot in town," made so by a special ventilating system installed at the time the house was erected. The subscription list is still open to those wishing to have their favorite seats reserved for them from week to week.

NEW HOPE HALL

TO BE DEDICATED BY MRS. MAUDE BALLINGTON BOOTH

CHICAGO, May 20.—Mrs. Maude Ballington Booth, the "little mother of the prisons," will today dedicate New Hope hall, a home for ex-convicts, in West Ravenswood park. The corner stone of the building was purchased by former prisoners of Illinois penal institutions. During the last year an average of one pardon a day for prisoners has been obtained by the Volunteer Prison League. About 20 of these now live at the home. Many others have been placed in positions and given a new start of life.

BOTH WERE DROWNED IN WEBBER POND

Man Was Trying to Rescue a Child

VASSALBORO, Me., May 20.—Rupert Tobey, 4 years old, and Carl D. Warren, 25 years old, were drowned together in the waters of Webber pond yesterday. Warren had jumped overboard from a sailboat to rescue the child, who had fallen from the boat. He was apparently successful, but was seized with cramps and went down to his death with the child's frenzied clutch upon him.

In the boat, unable to swim, was the boy's father, George E. Tobey, who was forced to see his son drown without power to help, as a squall had made the boat unmanageable.

A lurch of the boat threw the child into the water. Warren dived overboard with his clothes on. Mr. Tobey, who was at the rudder, tried in vain to bring the boat about, but could not sail near enough to the pair in the water to be of assistance. Realizing that, Charles Low, who was in the boat, jumped into the water.

Meanwhile Mr. Warren had reached the boy and had the lad grasp his shoulders. They sank when Mr. Warren was seized with cramps after swimming about 25 yards. Mr. Low was unable to reach them in time. He was not a good swimmer and the boat had been blown too far away to aid. After reaching the shore several hundred yards away, he fell exhausted. The accident was seen by relatives of all concerned in their homes on the shore of the pond. Mr. Warren was married but had no children.

MAN COMMITTED SUICIDE

He Lost "World's Finest Woman"

CHICAGO, May 20.—Henry Spruck von Armenthal, member of the German nobility and large land owner in Oregon, Washington and Idaho, shot and killed himself yesterday.

Hotel attaches, who found the body in his room, discovered a revolver in one hand and a photograph of Mrs. Frances Rosenblatt, niece of the late Nelson Morris, millionaire packer, in the other.

Von Armenthal left a note in which he said his despondency was due to drink and the fact that he had lost "the finest woman in the world" because of his drinking.

He also directed that his lawyer in Seattle and his older brother, Philip Spruck, Baron Sonns-Sanbach von Armenthal of Hesse-Darmstadt, Ger., should dispose of his large estate.

The romance terminated by Von Armenthal's death is said to have originated at a Los Angeles hotel two years ago. Attorney Walter D. Jones of Chicago identified Mrs. Rosenblatt's picture and told the police of Von Armenthal's love for her.

Nations Will Talk of Wireless Telegraphy at Their Meeting in London Next Month

When the nations get together next month in London to talk about wireless telegraphy their meeting will have more than a coldly scientific value. The ways of wireless through the air have acquired immense interest in the eyes of the world by reason of the use of the new method of communication in saving the survivors of the Titanic disaster. The delegates will talk of laws to regulate wireless telegraphy, of international agreements, of maritime regulations, of the proper pay of operators, of the proper wave lengths, etc., but underlying their discussions will be the feeling that they are dealing with a living, breathing thing akin to all varieties of human thought and feeling.

The virtues of the wireless have been extolled sufficiently since the Titanic floated out her first distress signal. But the methods of use of the priceless medium have received severe criticism from scientists and laymen alike. For instance, there has been much talk of the uselessness of the wireless stream when the only man on board a ship lies buried in needed sleep and his companions on board cannot read what the eager ether would tell them. Doubtless the delegates in London will voice their conviction that every ship should carry at least two wireless men.

Other matters of high importance will come before the conference. Nations on the eastern shores of the Atlantic censure America for not having instituted before this time a system of regulation of the use of wireless telegraphy to the end that "interference" by amateurs and by unauthorized professionals may be done away with. The United States government has named eleven delegates to represent America at the conference.

The man of all men in the scientific world today is Guglielmo Marconi. To him the 762 survivors of the Titanic look as to their savior, as much as though he had actually rowed them from the sinking steamship or pulled them from the water. To his genius the world owes the invention which summoned the Carpathia to the aid of her stricken sister and in hundreds of other instances has called help to vessels in distress. The loss of the Titanic recalled to the world the collision between the Republic and the Florida in 1903, when the wireless on the former ship, with Jack Binnis at the key, called the Baltic to her aid. No lives were lost.

The world resounds with praise of the wireless operators who figured in the Titanic disaster. They are three in number: all Britons—Jack Phillips, chief operator of the Titanic, who lost his life when his ship sank; Harold Bride, second operator of the Titanic, who was saved and who later relayed the third man, Harold Cottam, on the Carpathia, when the burden of sleepless nights and toilsome days proved too much for the telegrapher who caught the Titanic's flash of distress.

Bride's story of the last hours of Phillips, sticking to his key until the waters submerged the engines and rendered his instrument useless, is an epic of the sea. He pays full tribute, formally released by Captain Smith, to the hero who wouldn't stop sending out his "C Q D" and "S O S" appealing for aid, even to help to strap a life belt about him or to pay attention to the cowardly member of the crew who sought to steal the life belt when it was in place. The only thought of Phillips was of duty not of self. He "stuck" even after he was

MATRIMONIAL

A pretty wedding was solemnized in St. Joseph's church this morning when Mr. Joseph Bolsvert and Miss Albina Dube were united in the bonds of matrimony, the ceremony being performed at a nuptial mass celebrated at 7 o'clock by Rev. Charles Paquette, O. M. I. The young couple were attended by Messrs. Henri Lepine and Amédée Dube. After the ceremony the party repaired to the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Leonie Dube, 131 Colburn street, where a dainty wedding dinner was served. A reception will be held this evening at the same address. Among the out-of-town relatives attending the wedding are Mr. Albert Dube and the Misses Alice and Florence Dube, all of Worcester. Mr. and Mrs. Bolsvert will make their home at 131 Colburn street.

SHANLEY-LARKIN

A wedding of interest to many in this city is that of John Francis Shanley to Miss Mary G. Larkin of North Adams. The ceremony was performed at a nuptial mass in St. Vincent de Forlier church of New York by Monsignor Fitzgerald on Tuesday morning, April 30th, in the presence of many relatives and friends. A wedding breakfast and reception followed the ceremony, after which the happy couple left for an extended trip through the south. Many handsome gifts of silver, cut glass, bric-a-brac, etc., were received by the young people.

Miss Larkin is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Larkin of North Adams, and both she and Mr. Shanley are well known in social and musical circles of New York. John Francis Shanley is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph E. Shanley of this city and is the general superintendent of The Marblehead company of New York.

Mr. and Mrs. Shanley will be at home to their friends at No. 53 Knickerbocker avenue, Mamaroneck, N. Y., after July 1st.

A RUN ON THE BANK

Would about describe the rush at the Talbot Clothing Co., American House store, last Saturday, for the $5 gold pieces they were giving away. There hasn't been so much gold in circulation in Lowell since the war. Men who never owned a $5 gold piece before, and many of them who never even saw one, went out of the store with one in their pocket last Saturday. Giving away money is a luxury, but it's great sport, and the firm has decided to keep it up all this week. If you haven't got your $5 gold piece yet, read the conditions in Talbot's advertisement on page 3, and come this week. They have a big supply on hand—enough for everyone.

THE PARK DEPT.

As a matter of fact the entire equipment required to operate the department is in the possession of the park department and Mr. Barrett says that two weeks ago, Supt. Whittel was requested to place the fixtures on the fountain and promised to do so.

the son, Horace A. succeeded him. The corporations of the neighboring cities kept them busy turning out large orders of loom dusters and machine brushes. Competitors for the last 20 years, however, the reformatory institutions have made brush-making one of their chief occupations, thus crippling the business as to price and quality.

Mr. Washburn being a conservative business man, decided to retire from business, and for the last ten years the plant has been idle. The factory made no pretensions to elegance, but was admirably adapted to the purposes for which it was built. It stands upon a small stream which flows into the Merrimack, and yields about eight horsepower for driving the machinery of the shop. To supply this stream of water Mr. Washburn in 1874 built a reservoir covering 20 acres, and now has water on precisely the same plan that the large factories of Lowell are supplied. In the shop a number of hands were steadily employed in making the various sorts of brushes.

TO BECOME AMERICAN CITIZENS

Big Naturalization Meeting Was Held in the C. M. A. C. Hall

A largely attended mass meeting was held at C. M. A. C. hall yesterday afternoon under the auspices of the committee composed of members of the local social clubs for the purpose of promoting naturalization among the French speaking people of this city.

The meeting was presided over by Maximine Lypine, president of the Citizens-Americans club, who in his opening address explained the duties of the permanent committee of which he is a member and also explained the naturalization laws.

Rep. Henri Achin, Jr., was the first speaker called and he spoke in part as follows:

"Naturalization is the process by which the rights and privileges of a native subject or citizen are conferred on an alien. Any alien who has attained the age of twenty-one and who has been in this country at least five years and who has no undesirable qualities, can become an American citizen. It is a recognized fact today everywhere, that American citizenship carries with it the largest degree of freedom and the highest degree of protection which has ever been granted to any class of individuals."

"Now, then to the man who has adopted this country as his own, who daily mingles with hundreds of American citizens, it seems to me no appeal is necessary to have him understand that his own best interests lie in joining with his fellow-citizens, and becoming their equal. The chief cause of complaint is not that there is opposition in embracing citizenship."

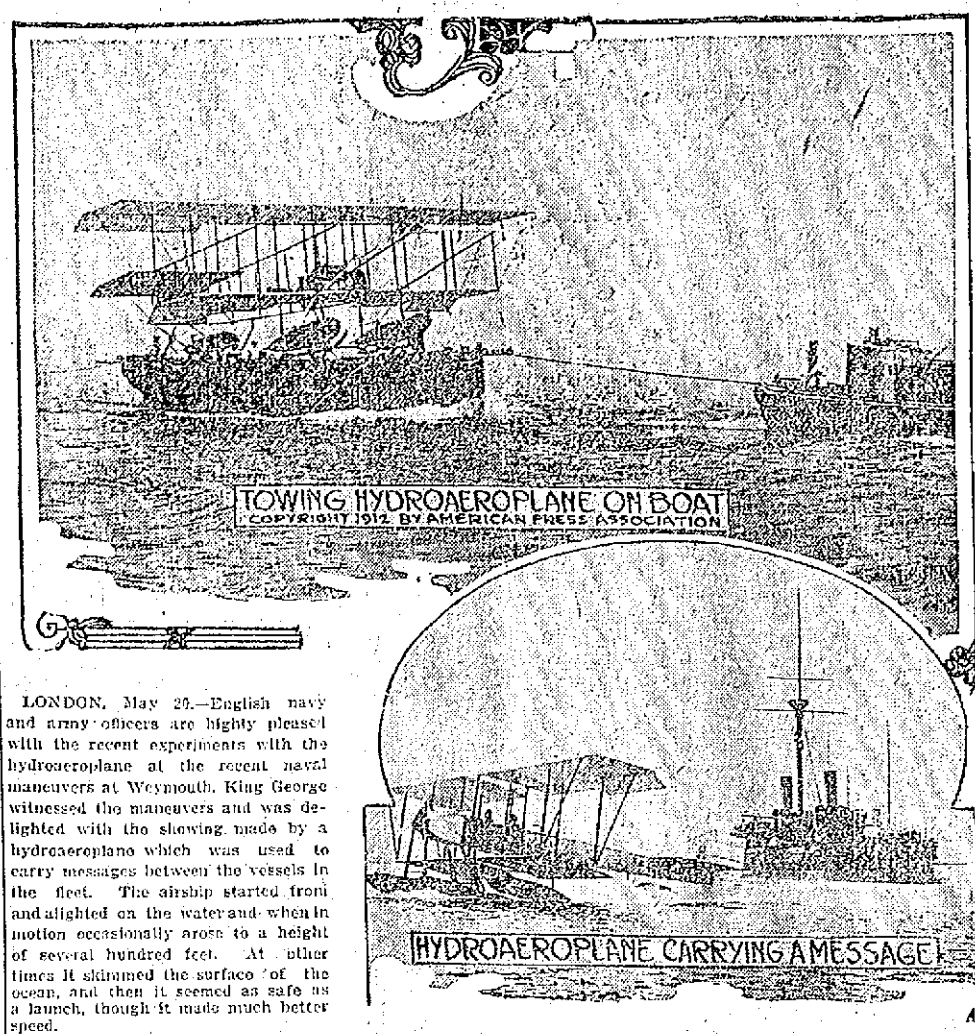

REP. HENRY ACHIN, JR.

What those interested in this movement desire is to awaken a more general political public to have every man counted when the proper time has arrived. The representative closed his remarks by giving important information on naturalization.

Rev. Henri Watelle, O. M. I., pastor of St. Joseph's parish also addressed the meeting.

Mr. John Durant, secretary of the committee announced that he had nearly 100 men who were to take out either their first or second papers this week, and at the close of the meeting a large number of names of men who wished to take out their first papers were taken.

English Navy is Experimenting With the Hydroaeroplane for Carrying Messages

LONDON, May 20.—English navy and army officers are highly pleased with the recent experiments with the hydroaeroplane at the recent naval maneuvers at Weymouth. King George witnessed the maneuvers and was delighted with the showing made by a hydroaeroplane which was used to carry messages between the vessels in the fleet. The ship started from and alighted on the water and when in motion occasionally arose to a height of several hundred feet. At other times it skimmed the surface of the ocean, and then it seemed as safe as a launch, though it made much better speed.

FIVE PERSONS DROWNED IN THE CALUMET RIVER

Bridge Had Been Swung to Allow Boat to Pass Just as Auto Approached

CHICAGO, May 20.—Five persons, two men and three women, were drowned early today when the automobile in which they were riding plunged into the Calumet river at the 92nd street bridge.

None of the names of the victims so far has been learned by the police and only one of the bodies has been recovered. One of the women jumped into the river as the embankment was reached, according to a watchman. Her body was found. The woman was apparently 24 years old and the initials "A. M." were on a bracelet worn by her. The automobile, which was going about 30 miles an hour, turned completely over as it went into the river. Only one of the party was seen afterward. One of the men swam for several minutes.

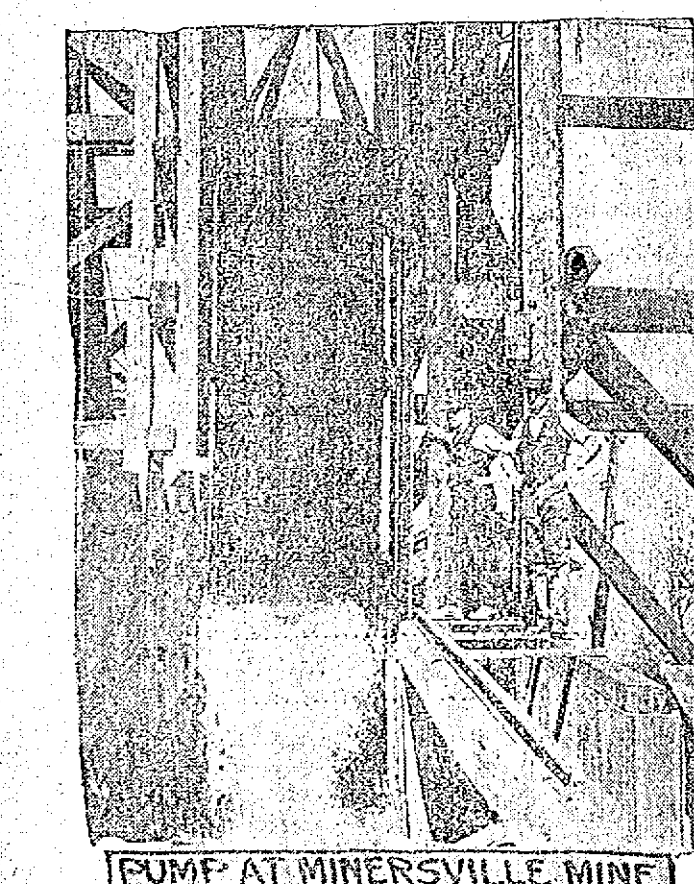

The watchman threw a life preserver to him but he apparently did not see it and went down.

The bridge had been swung to allow a boat to pass and although a warning was shouted to the driver of the machine by the watchman, the former was unable to apply the brakes in time to avert the accident.

Union Men Keep Giant Pump at Work at Pennsylvania Mine

MINERSVILLE, Pa., May 20.—The main on duty, but cooler counsel prevailed. Should the pump stop for any length of time there would be tremendous damage done, and by keeping the mine free of water it will be ready for operation when the strike is ended.

PARACHUTE JUMPER WAS KILLED BY FALL

Youth Was Unable to Open His Parachute

NAHANT, May 20.—Dropping with plummet-like swiftness from a balloon 1000 feet in the air, James Barr, Jr., a 20-year-old youth who posed as P. Rodman Law, the New York parachute jumper, was unable to open his parachute early last evening, during a "balloon and parachute race," and striking the water 100 yards from shore of Bailey's Hill, Nahant, was instantly killed.

Barr had made but one ascension before, and in some manner tangled the ropes of the parachute. Terrified at his failure to straighten out the tangled cloth and strings, he released his hold and struck the water with a noise like a torpedo. Two of his sisters saw him fall.

George L. Bushar, 35 years old, of 20 Pearl street, Cambridge, who made the ascension with Barr, witnessed the accident from his insecure perch in the clouds, and a few minutes later saw his parachute loose and descended safely.

The ascent had originally been planned by F. Redman Law and Tref. C. C. Bonatti, but at the last moment it was found that they were unable to make it and the services of Barr and Bushar were secured.

Bushar said last night that Barr's actions in the balloon while they were ascending branded him as an amateur, and it was learned that his father had asked him not to go up. They had arranged to have Barr drop first. Bailey's Hill having been selected as his landing point.

BRIDE-TO-BE IS DEAD

Funeral Instead of a Wedding Today

Instead of the wedding of Miss Olive Aucoing Wedge which was to have been performed today at St. Louis church, her funeral was celebrated, the bride-to-be having passed away two days before the date set for her marriage.

Miss Olive Aucoing Wedge, a charming young woman, aged 22 years, who made her home with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Maxine Aucoing Wedge in Haverhill street, Dracut, was to have been married this morning to Mr. Joseph Harne, aged 21 years, a well known young man of this city, who lives at 327 Dutton street and who is employed in the napping room of the Merrimack mill. All arrangements for the wedding were completed and the ceremony was to be performed at a nuptial mass at 8 o'clock this morning at St. Louis church.

Friday morning the young woman was seized with an epileptic shock and she did not recover. She was removed to the Lowell hospital, where she died Saturday noon without recovering her senses.

Mr. Harne, who feels deeply the loss of his fiancée, when seen by a reporter of The Sun, was broken hearted. He related how he spent Thursday evening with Miss Wedge and Friday morning he called at her home in order to have her go with him to the town clerk's office for their marriage license. When he arrived at the home he found her in an unconscious condition. The ambulance was summoned and the young woman was removed to the Lowell hospital where everything was done to save her life, but without any success.

Deceased is survived by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Maxine Aucoing Wedge and a sister, Yvonne.

"Charlie" Frost is one of the original members of the Richardson Light Infantry. "There are only about ten of us left, I guess," said Charlie to a reporter for The Sun, "and I suppose there'll be fewer next year. We have had to take in the sons of the original members in order to make a quorum," said Charlie, laughingly. Charlie has been under the weather for some time but he's coming "round again all right and he allows that in a little while he will be just as young as he used to be. "I always like to take part in these reunions," he said, "for I like to meet good fellows. We didn't kill very many rebels but we killed lots of time and got pretty well acquainted."

THE INDIAN MEDICINE MAN

was chosen by his tribe in pioneer days for his expert knowledge in combining medicines from roots and herbs to cure disease. They could conquer diseases that today battle the skilled physicians. He has spent years in the study of drugs. From the roots and herbs of the field Lydia E. Pinkham nearly forty years ago gave to the women of the world a remedy for female ills deemed more potent and efficacious than any combination of drugs. Today Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is recognized the world over as the standard remedy for female ills.

AND ATHLETICSLOWELL LOST TO LAWRENCE
IN GREAT 12 INNING GAME5000 Fans Saw Game—Score 2
to 1—Keating in Fine Form
—Lavigne Injured

The Lowell team, accompanied by over 1000 loyal rooters, went to Lawrence Saturday afternoon, where the champs met the Lawrence team and were defeated after playing 12 hard innings by the score of 2 to 1. The game was one of the best of the season and was a pitcher's battle between Keating and Wolfgang. The Lawrence twirler had the better of the argument and his exhibition was very classy. The winning run resulted from errors by Conney and Roultes and a wild pitch by Wolfgang. There were over 5000 fans at the game.

Lawrence scored in the first inning. Carlstrom, the first man up, was a victim of Wolfgang's curves and fanned. The Lowell fans gave a great cheer. Midget Hagan, who hasn't made a home run since 1905, walked on four wild ones. Briggs singled to right and Hagan went to third. Briggs tried to parlay second but Lavigne was there and he went out. Arthur to Conney. Luster singled to left and Hagan came home. The Lawrence right fielder tried to steal second, but was out a mile. Lavigne to Nye.

From this time until the ninth, there was little doing, both teams going out in order. In the third inning, however, the Lowell fans were given a chance to cheer. The locals did not score, but Joe Ferrin, the Lawrence boy, on his first trip to the plate was presented a traveling bag. A great cheer went up. The next score came in the ninth inning when many of the fans were starting to leave the grounds. Miller sent the ball over the left field fence for a home run and tied up the game. Here the Lowell fans went wild with excitement and the first baseman was given an ovation. The hit was the best of the game and was responsible for the three extra innings that were necessary to decide the winner.

In the last of the ninth, Wolfgang gave a fine exhibition of twirling. Luster walked and went to second on Kennedy's sacrifice. A pass ball, and the runner went to third. With only one down and a man on third, the chances looked good for Lawrence to score and win the game, but Wolfe fanned the next two men up, Phoenix and Chase, and the game went on to the tenth.

In the last inning, the injury to Lavigne's ankle, which he sustained in the sixth inning, when he made a great attempt to score, but failed on a close decision, was partially responsible for the winning run. With Chase on third, owing to the fact that he got there from first base while Phoenix was being doubled up between home and third, Wolfgang pitched one that went with him and Chase came rambling home with a final tally.

Mike Donlin Has Braced

Up the Pirates' Outfield

Mike Donlin is now the popular idol of the fans in Pittsburgh. The former Thespian is putting up a grand all around game and has braced up the Pirates' outfield wonderfully. Mike's big stick has won a number of games for his team of late, and the local experts are of the opinion that he will come pretty near leading the league in batting at the end of the season. At present he has a batting average of .410. Last winter when Manager Clarke traded Vincent Campbell to Boston for Donlin many critics censured the Pittsburgh leader for making the trade. They figured Mike had seen his best days. According to Clarke, Donlin is worth three Campbells.

to one. The batteries were: Chesley and Veino for the Elliot team; Switzer and Smith for the Billerica team.

The Dracut Boy Scouts defeated the Y. M. C. of St. Anne's, 22 to 20, Saturday.

Highland Boy Scouts lost to the Elliot Scouts Saturday, 7 to 5, in an interesting game.

The Suburban league results for Saturday's games were: Mystics 23, Westford 2; Grantville 11, Beacens 7; Cubs 2, Indians 7. The Grantville team leads the league with the Cubs second and the Y. M. C. A. Indians third.

Halsh, of the visitors did the best work for his team. His score of 82 runs, not out, was the means of bringing victory to Methuen. The game was very interesting and the 550 spectators were given many chances to applaud the performers during the game. The score:

GAME IS CALLED OFF

IN PHILADELPHIA

Pres. Ban Johnson Says

Team Will Not Play

PHILADELPHIA, May 20.—There will be no baseball game at Shibe park today. The Detroit club will not play another game in this or any other city until it is represented by its regular players. This was the edict promulgated by Byron Blumcroft Johnson, president of the Amn. League, Saturday night after a conference with the club practically from three in the afternoon up to 10 o'clock last night. President Shibe and Manager Mack, of the Athletics club, were the only persons closeted with Mr. Johnson. These three officials waited all afternoon and evening for the arrival of Frank Navin, president of the Detroit club, who was supposed to reach this city from Detroit about midnight. Up to midnight he had not arrived and had sent no word to President Johnson.

In discussing the status of the striking Detroit players and the situation their refusal to play had produced, Mr. Johnson said:

"The failure of the Detroit players to participate in the game with the Athletics Saturday at Shibe park out of sympathy for Ty Cobb, who had been indefinitely suspended for assaulting a spectator at a game in New York, has assumed proportions that far overshadow the mere suspension of the Tiger star. Every one of the striking players has automatically suspended himself, and made himself ineligible to compete in a game under organized baseball control until he is reinstated by the national commission. By refusing to play a scheduled game all the players have violated a clause in their contract which makes them liable to fine not only by the Detroit club, but also by the National commission."

"The Detroit club will not appear on the field again until I am assured that it has a set of good players, who can compete with other teams of the league. There will be no more farces in the American league."

"I have no statement to make as to the disposition of the strike or possible punishment of the players until Mr. Navin arrives. He is the owner and president of the club, and as such it is only due him to first have the privilege of conversing with Manager Jennings and what players as he sees fit."

Johnson was asked if Jennings would continue as the manager.

"I have had a very enjoyable two hours' talk with Hughes," was the response. "We discussed the matter fully, but took no action or discussed any procedure. We are waiting for Mr. Navin, and his presence is essential before anything is done."

The league president was asked if the striking players would go to Washington for the game scheduled at the capital for today.

"I do not care where they go or what they do," he said. "As I stated before, the club will not appear on the diamond again until it has good players and not rank amateurs."

"Does that mean Delahanty, Crawford and the regular Tiger players will be eliminated?" he was questioned.

"Not at all," he answered, "but a solution of the matter must first be reached before they are allowed to represent the Detroit franchise."

In answering a query if the seven other teams of the league would be aided, Mr. Johnson replied that he hoped the various clubs would be able to "hold their own man."

THE CEMETERIES FUND

AMOUNTS TO $5599.39

Ald. Cummings Says Perpetual Care Fund Will be Used Instead of Interest Money

The receipts from public cemeteries up to last Saturday night amounted to $5,599.39, the monthly returns being as follows: January $350.63, February $925.80, March $1,448.17, April $1,562.39, and May up to the 18th, $713.00.

There is deposited in various banks and designated as the "Perpetual Care Sinking Fund," $2,073.00, which was created by former cemetery trustees, who set aside $1 each year from each grave under perpetual care, and the expert accountant in his report says that the fund is illegal. Mr. Rex says that according to the terms under which the money was accepted, meaning the cemetery fund for the perpetual care of lots, the $2,073.00 has been diverted from the purpose for which the individual gifts of money were received. "The explanation given for diverting it," says Mr. Rex, "is that while the income on each gift of $100 was $4, it was decided by the cemetery authorities to set aside $1 each year as a sinking fund to care for extraordinary work, inasmuch as the amount charged against each fund each year did not amount to the income according to the agreement. The income from the perpetual care fund the past year has amounted to $2,515.57, yet the amount credited on account of income was $2,812.32. The reason for this difference of $296.75 is that the treasurer has placed a literal interpretation on the provision to pay four per cent, and has placed each $100 on a four per cent, earning basis upon receiving it, although it did not begin to earn at the rate of four per cent, until placed in a savings bank at the beginning of an interest bearing period. It is my judgment that the ordinance should be repealed and a substitute passed providing that instead of four per cent, being credited there should be the earnings of each fund, whatever it may be. My reason for this is that while savings banks pay four per cent, on deposits at the present time, there is no guarantee that they will continue to do so, but will reduce the rate of interest. It can be plainly seen that if this should take place, it would be an expense to the city without any intent at the beginning that it should be. The city at the present time has an example of this character, in the agreement existing in the Thomas Necropolis fund in which the city is now paying six per cent, interest. I would also recommend that the $2,073.00 representing the perpetual care sinking fund be transferred to the fund from which it was taken, the perpetual care fund."

Contract For Flowers

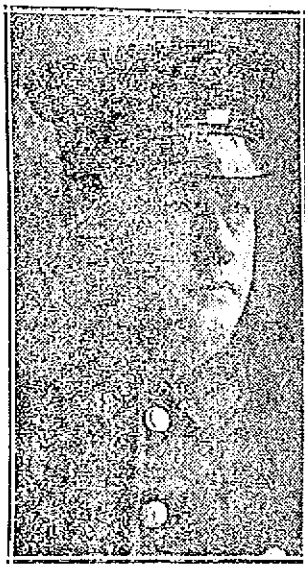

There has been some controversy and some criticism of fault finding relative to the buying of flowers for public cemeteries. The flowers will be paid for out of the perpetual care fund of which Commissioner Cummings is trustee. Asked for a statement relative to the purchase of the flowers, Mr. Cummings said: "I consulted with the city solicitor as to my position in the matter and asked him if it would be necessary for me to buy the flowers through the purchasing agent's office and he told me that as trustee of the perpetual care fund for which the money for the flowers would be paid it was necessary for me to buy through the purchasing agent's office. After my conference with the city solicitor I went to the purchasing agent and told him what the city solicitor had said."

I then notified the different florists, J. J. McManmon, Morse & Beale, Richard Griffith, W. J. Collins, H. B. Greene, John S. Hagen and Whittell & Co. The last three mentioned were the only ones to submit bids and their bids were as follows: Greene, $236.50; Haines, $206.24, and Whittell & Co., $235.40. The bids were opened in the office of the superintendent of cemeteries by me and in the presence of Supt. Duckworth, Mr. Gilmore and Mrs. Jordan, clerk. I instructed Mrs. Jordan to notify the bidders that the contract had been awarded to Mr. Haines. I told her to give them the amount of the bids and I presume she did so.

SCENE IN THE MAY PROCESSION

Over 10,000 people, from all sections of the city, assembled along the streets in Centralville yesterday afternoon, through which the annual May procession of St. Michael's parish passed, and looked upon one of the most impressive religious demonstrations ever held in this city. There were over 1000 in line and the pageant was one of rare beauty and significance portraying as it did all the leading mysteries of the Christian religion.

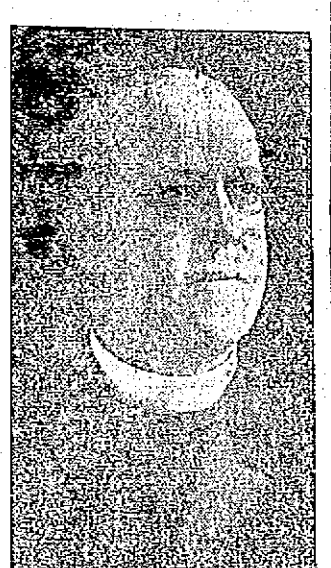

Long before the time fixed for the start, the streets along the route were lined with people. The procession was led by a squad of police who moved the spectators back to the sidewalks, while many viewed the marchers from the tops of buildings and windows along the route.

The weather but for a stiff breeze, that sent the dust flying, was ideal and at 3 o'clock when Rev. Dennis Murphy, who has charge of the procession, gave the signal for the line to move the sun was shining brilliantly and the temperature was comfortable even to those attired in summer apparel.

The procession started from the school in Sixth street and moved slowly up to Read, and through the latter to Third, and down to Bridge to Sixth and to the church, where the services of the crowning of the Blessed Virgin were held. Along the line of procession the marchers were the recipients of much favorable comment. A leading feature was the singing during the procession. The girls of the church edulities sang beautiful hymns in honor of the Blessed Virgin, while the members of the choir, wearing black cassocks and white surplices, rendered hymns appropriate to the occasion.

The costumes of the participants were very beautiful and represented the painstaking efforts of the sisters of the school and also the mothers of the little ones. Some of these in the line were very small, but they carried out the instructions they received to the letter and the faith of the parishioners was never more impressively shown. The portrayals in the procession were chiefly allegorical but in each particular appropriate and beautiful. The banners in line bore inscriptions indicating their emblematic meaning.

John Delaney, cross bearer, with John Cawley and Win. McCabe as acolytes headed the procession. They were attired in their cassocks and surplices and as they moved along the sight of the men in the vicinity, who uncovered was very impressive. Following came the squads of Company C, Sixth Regiment, M. V. M. in command of Second Lieut. James Powers. The millennium wore their dress uniforms and made a fine appearance. Next came the Faith group of little girls, who were beautifully gowned in white dresses with var-colored trimmings. They were: Lillian Christolm, Margaret Dempsey, Frances Foley, Frances Houdreau, Lillian Shea, Mary McShane, Teresa Critchett, Mary O'Connor, Catherine Ryan and Ellen Cote. Little Raymond Whelan, representing St. John, the evangelist, followed in line. He wore the toga, red wreath, gold trimmings and sandals. The sanctuary boys in their regular regalia followed. The following girls who carried banners and blue and white pennants came next: Helen Birchall, Mary Gallagher, Mary Dowd, Mary Creggan, Mary Johnson, Rose Fully, Anna Dorsey and Helen Tierney.

The representation of the Blessed Virgin was portrayed by Helen Hurland and Nora Coleman represented the Annunciation Queen. The five joyful mysteries: one of the features of the procession, were portrayed by the children and the Holy Innocents were presented by Harold Adams, Joseph Hyde, Paul Hagley, Francis Moran, Emmet McDonough, Robert Chisholm, Leo Tunny, Thomas Gavin, John Allen and John McNerney. The followers and guards were Allen Tiernan, Leo Riordan, Archie Keefe, Lawrence Flynt, Leo McHale, William Larzy, Emmet Rourke, Patrick Creggan, Walter Sullivan and John Fleming.

St. John, the baptist, was portrayed by Edward Moran in the characteristic goat skin, sandals and white robes. The Christ child, in the dark red flowing robes, was represented by Clinton Sullivan, and King David was portrayed by John Morris. Members of the sanctuary choir, directed by James A. Murphy, came next.

A number of little girls, dressed as angels, and marching in cross formation, preceded the statue of the Virgin mother and child, which was placed on a wooden base and carried on the shoulders of four young men in sanctuary attire. On both sides were members of the militia, who formed a guard of honor. Blue and white pennants were carried by Helen O'Connor, Mary Quinn, Lillian Watterson, Evelyn Hyde, Catherine Egan, Irene Burns, Nora Connors, Anna O'Brien, Teresa Cowling and Mary Riley.

Louise Egan, wearing a white flowing gown with an artistic painting on the front of her dress, represented the Sacred Heart of Mary. The Angel of Agency was played by Marion Nevin, and she was followed by a squad of Roman soldiers carrying the instruments of the passion. The crown of thorns, the lash and other instruments used during the passion of Christ, were portrayed by Masters Daniel Theodore Harrington, Walter Hyde, James Mitchell, Walter Choquette and Richard Blinnhorn. These little toys were the helmets, sandals and breast plates of the soldiers of Rome. The five sorrowful mysteries made up the rear of the first division.

The second division was led by two squads of militia. Mildred Gaffney as Mary of the Temple followed. She wore a dress of immaculate white and was accompanied by two smaller children also dressed in white.

Virgins and martyrs were represented by Dorothy Ring, Gertrude Neve, Georgianna Keefe, Anna Stowick, Marcelle McEroy, Margaret Ring, Mabel Quinn, Irene Plunkett, Mary Stowell and Loretta Farrell. The Angel of the Resurrection was portrayed by Marion Moran, who was preceded by members of the Children of Mary society. The five Glorious Mysteries were represented by a number of children, prettily attired in dresses of white with many colored trimmings. Hope was represented by Lillian Breen, Catherine Chisholm, Bella Lantagne, Olive Kelly, Helen

GREAT INCREASE IN VALUE OF LUXURIES IMPORTED IN THIS COUNTRY

WASHINGTON, May 20.—Luxuries imported into the United States during the fiscal year which ends with next month will exceed 200 million dollars in value. Under 1911 term, "luxuries," are included such articles as diamonds, art works, lace and embroideries, champagne, and other wines, tobacco and manufactures thereof, ostrich feathers, artificial flowers, toys, perfumes and cosmetics, jewelry, manufactures of gold and silver and numerous others of this general character.

In many of these articles, especially in the more important ones, the imports of the fiscal year 1912 will exceed in value those of any earlier year. Art works, for example, show for the 9 months ending with March, a total exceeding by 60 per cent, the highest record of any earlier year, and will approximate 40 million dollars in 1912 and 21 million in 1911.

Diamonds will also show a large total for the fiscal year 1912. The 9 months' figures thus far received by the bureau of statistics, department of commerce and labor, show for diamonds and other precious stones a total of 20 1/2 million dollars, indicating for the full year a total of about 41 million dollars, thus exceeding the record of any earlier year, except 1910, when the total was nearly 45 million dollars, and 1907, when the total was 42 1/2 million. Unset diamonds will amount to about one-fourth of the grand total of precious and semi-precious stones.

Lace and embroideries are also an important factor in the value of "luxuries," or articles of voluntary use, imported. They will amount in value in the current year to about 41 million dollars. The growth in the importation of this great group has been very rapid, the total of 1902, a decade ago, having been less than 20 million dollars and the increase in the decade fully 50 per cent. This total of 41 million dollars includes lace and embroideries, cuttings, insertings, ruchings, trimmings, tuckings, lace window curtains, and other articles of this general character, whether made of raw cotton, silk, or the group of raw materials usually termed "fibers," such as flax, ramie, etc. Those manufactures from cotton, however, form more than three-fourths of the total value of the group.

The bureau of statistics this year for the first time separates the group, "cotton, lace and embroideries," into its principal constituents. For the first 2 months under this new and more detailed classification, of cotton embroideries, about 11 million dollars; lace, about 11 million dollars; lace window curtains, three-quarters of a million dollars; nets and nettings, three-quarters of a million; and handmade lace, a little over a half million dollars.

Other articles and groups of articles which may be termed "luxuries" are tobacco and manufactures thereof, which will amount for the year to about 32 million dollars; toys, about 2 million dollars; ostrich and other feathers, artificial flowers; champagne and other wines, beads and ornaments; musical instruments, perfumeries and cosmetics, and manufacture of gold and silver.

Europe is the section of the world from which most of these articles of luxury are drawn. Of the 30 million dollars' worth of art works imported in the nine months ending with March, France supplied 15 1/2 million dollars' worth, the United Kingdom nearly 11 million dollars' worth, and Germany a little more than 1 million dollars' worth. Of cotton lace, embroideries, etc., imported, Switzerland supplied about one-third of the total, the remainder being drawn from France, Germany and the United Kingdom. Cut diamonds are also drawn chiefly from Europe, though the product, in most cases, of the African mines. Of the 7 1/2 million dollars' worth of uncut diamonds imported in the latest period for which official returns have been received 5 million dollars' worth was from the United Kingdom, and 1 million dollars' worth from Belgium. Of the 18 million dollars' worth of diamonds, cut but not set, imported in the nine months ending with March, 7 million dollars' worth were from Belgium, 5 1/2 million dollars' worth from The Netherlands, 3 1/2 million from the United Kingdom. Of the champagne imports, a very large proportion, approximately nine-tenths, are from France.

NEW YORK, May 20.—Termination of the anthracite coal strike was reflected in the strength of Lehigh Valley and Reading at the opening of today's stock market. The former advanced 1 1/2 and Reading 1 1/2. Some strength was shown by Steel, Can, Pac, Illinois Central, Great Northern Ore certificates and some of the minor specialties.

Lehigh, after advancing over 2 points, fell back with Reading. A more uneven tone was displayed generally, except in the specialties. The irregularity of the first hour became marked later, Lehigh yielding more of its gain and Reading selling under Saturday's close, as did Amalgamated, Smelting and other markets leaders. Harriman shares were relatively firm with little change in standard railroad issues. Manipulative tactics in specialties were continued, Rubber common rising four points with material gains in such speculative stocks as American Ice, Texas company, Colorado Fuel, International Harvester, Sears Roebuck and American Car and Foundry. The rise in rubber was attended by rumors of increased dividend.

Copper shares derived no advantage from another advance in the price of the metal and the market became increasingly heavy and dull. Illinois Central rose two points. Business fell to minor proportions and prices were off. The list suffered a further attack with a decline of four points in Texas company. The market closed heavy. Prices yielded to lowest of the day in the last hour, Lehigh Valley losing all its gain and other standard stocks selling under Saturday's close.

BILL FOR FREE SUGAR

The democrats in congress have prepared a bill providing for free sugar which would be a great boon to the people of this country. Sugar has been a great revenue producer for the government and the democrats plan to offset this loss of revenue by a tax on incomes of over $5000.

Senator Lodge has written a minority report for the senate committee on finance, opposing the free sugar idea on the ground that the removal of the sugar tariff would necessitate the imposition of other taxes fully as burdensome as that of sugar. A plea for the home industry is made and the men who have millions invested in sugar, but nothing is said in behalf of the masses who are taxed an average of eight dollars per family to meet the tariff on sugar. Lodge voices the old standpat republican tariff argument. The democratic "Excise Bill" will impose an income tax that will or should bring as much revenue as the tariff on sugar.

The people of this country have endured this sugar extortion too long. The beet sugar factories of the United States have a protection of three and a half times as much as those of Germany, Austria and France, and yet they pay the American farmer about the same for sugar beets as the European farmer receives. A high official of the sugar trust has said that the beet sugar industry is profitable under conditions of absolute free trade and that the industry has nothing to fear even from the annexation of Cuba. If that be true, and it has not been contradicted, then on what grounds does Senator Lodge make such a plea for the industry? It is simply to save the trust and the people who, according to his statement, have invested millions in sugar. He may be one of these investors himself. The democratic bill should become law. As usual with Lodge the masses are not considered except in a quest of votes.

THE GOVERNOR'S ACTION

Governor Foss in deciding not to interfere with the regular course of the law in the Richeson case has done what evidently appeared to his Excellency to be his plain duty. The governor could easily have evaded responsibility by referring the case to the executive council; but this would have been an admission that there was some cause for a commutation of the sentence, whereas the governor finds none whatever. The governor in this case has shown a proper respect for his oath of office and has the courage of his convictions. Had he been so disposed he could easily have found a plausible pretext for letting Richeson escape the death chair; but that would be an evasion of duty and failure to enforce the law; for if ever a murder was committed with premeditation and in cold-blooded heartlessness it was this. Let those who have sympathy for Richeson think of his position as a spiritual guide and a supposed exemplar of conduct, the pastor of a church and a Christian man. For such a man to take advantage of a member of his flock, an innocent and unsuspecting girl, was in itself a heinous crime; but to plan deliberately to poison her in order that he might be free to marry a lady of wealth, was the acme of sordidness. The murder committed in the heat of temper or in passion may have mitigating features; but the murder of Avis Linnell was not of that character. Moreover, Richeson confessed his guilt in his sober senses, so that there can be no question on that point. If ever a man deserved capital punishment in Massachusetts that man is Richeson.

TO IMPEACH A JUDGE

The New York Bar Association is collecting data for the impeachment of a judge who is charged with a too liberal exercise of his power to set free the guilty. If any judge abuses his power he should be impeached before the proper tribunal; but in the application of the recall, if it were in force, there would be no means of determining whether the judge is guilty of any misdemeanor, or whether he was falsely accused. To correct abuses among the judiciary greater facilities should be provided for the impeachment of judges so that any judge guilty of any abuse of his power may be tried and if found guilty removed. The recall simply says the judge to be ousted is a bad man and he must be removed. It is but right that a judge should be treated in a judicial manner even by the citizens, but this never can be done by the recall.

RECKLESS AUTO DRIVING

The accident on the boulevard in which one man was killed outright and two others perhaps fatally injured was the result of reckless speeding. The trouble is, that few men realize the danger of driving a high power machine at the rate of forty or fifty miles an hour along any road, especially at night. If a fire comes off or an axle breaks, the result is disaster. Moreover when men go out for a good time they should select a steady old farm or stable horse in preference to an auto if they care anything for their safety.

THE SALISBURY BEACH BILL

If the state is to make a reservation of Salisbury beach why should the cities of the Merrimack Valley foot the bills? The state can recoup itself for the outlay needed by leasing the lots which the present owners want to sell. The owners of the land may fare better by taking what they receive from the state than by keeping up a warfare with the lessees to force purchase of the lots.

At Pittsfield they say there are so many social activities and so many consequent expenses among fraternities of the High school that going to the school is a very expensive affair. Wonder if that could be said of any other High school—Brookton Enterprise.

The people of Lowell can rejoice that no such condition of affairs exists in this city where the High school fraternities went out of existence some time ago. They served no good purpose and were liable to lead to abuses.

Seen and Heard

Somebody says that everybody ought to eat an apple every day, and perhaps it is good advice, but see what happened to Adam!

If every man had as much money in the bank as he has rubbish in the attic of his house, he would be comfortably fixed for life.

An enterprising talker is seldom any great amount of help in a business office.

Perhaps some day when Mr. Luther Burbank has a little spare time, he will win universal gratitude by developing a string bean without strings.

Putting each chocolate in a box in a little fluted paper plate may please the girls, but to the hard-hearted man it looks like a scheme for selling paper at seventy-five cents a pound.

The only reason some men don't go into bankruptcy sooner is that it is so hard to borrow money.

Yes, the cost of living has certainly increased. In the old days people used to be satisfied with tallow candles which they dipped themselves. Now they want electric lights.

A woman would rather a man would love her a little less, if he would only tell her of it more.

If a man by chance gets a $100 bill into his possession for a few days, he generally exhibits it to all his friends.

Some men would rather be rich than famous, and others would rather be famous than rich, but most of us would prefer to be both.

TO THE DOWNHEARTED
The man who constantly complains, and constantly is blue, should have no cause to be surprised because his friends are few. For no one really, truly likes to hear another groan; and every one has enough with troubles of his own.

So when in trouble, do not go to friends, to tell the tale. They really, truly do not care. To hear your plaintive wail. But give your teeth, and do your best. To hear it, as you can. Just hide your pain, when trouble comes, and face it like a man!

LIKE A BELATED BIRD
Love comes to men like a belated bird; He through the sunlit hours forgets to sing, And folds in darkling woods his timid wing, Nor knows himself a prophet of the void.

From moon-ribbed turrets of earth's steepest tower,
When loud-voiced Day hath slumbered into Night,
Viewing anew his plaintive old despair,
He thrills to such as chance his ecstasies.

And those who hear his glad, full-throated song,
Must share his passion to the end of days;
And those who see his shadow, these always
Must search for one to whom it doth belong.

But they who see Love's self and not his shade,
May ever hear him singing in the glade.

John Collier the secretary of New York's board of moving picture censors said the other day:

"It's no good getting up objectionable picture plays. We never pass them. In fact, we turn them down so invariably that it seems to me the composers of such plays are animated by a spirit of perversity. They remind me of old Uncle Jethro Hush."

"Uncle Jethro sat fishing on the bank of a tiny rivulet, when a stranger stopped beside him and said:

"Is it possible that there are any fish in such a small stream as that?"

"No, there ain't none," Uncle Jethro grunted.

"But you're fishing?"

"Yep," said Uncle Jeth.

"What, then, is your object?"

"My object," said Uncle Jeth, "is to show my wife I ain't got no time to sit the ashes."

THE DUTCH GOVERNMENT

Sends Notes of Protest to Portugal

LISBON, Portugal, May 20.—The government is greatly disturbed over revolts which have broken out at Timor (Malay Archipelago), Macao (China), Goa (Portuguese India), and Bilhe (Africa). The most important outbreaks are at Timor and Macao.

According to official telegrams all the natives of Timor are in complete revolution against constituted authority. They number several thousand, and being of the Malay family, are described as very fierce and warlike. Many of them, however, are educated and both read and write Portuguese.

They are well armed with rifles and have field guns which were captured from the Portuguese troops. Their chief stronghold is at Menapac, situated in the heart of the mountains, some of which range as high as 5000 feet in altitude. They have, however, descended towards the coast and approached near to the capital, Dilly, which at last accounts they were attacking. The Portuguese have already lost a considerable number of men and a number of civilians who were assisting the regular troops were also killed. The government has ordered forward an expedition of about 500 men with fourteen field guns.

The Dutch government has sent several notes to Portugal, protesting at the revolt on the ground that it is extending to Dutch territory. The Dutch are inclined to blame the Portuguese for the outbreak which they say results from the fact that the authorities have doubled the taxes which the natives are unable to pay. It is understood that Holland has made another proposal to purchase the Portuguese part of Timor, but it is entirely probable that Portugal will refuse the offer.

The situation at Goa in India is scarcely any better. The natives of Satary have carried their rebellion to practically all the Portuguese territory. They have seized several Portuguese forts. As the troops were unable to resist the rebels, the natives had an opportunity to pillage and murder freely. Entire villages are described as smoldering ruins. Hundreds of people have been killed or have disappeared. Women and girls have been seized in the villages, taken to the mountains and turned into domestic slaves. The richest are held for ransom. The government is sending a punitive expedition of 200 men with six quick-firing guns, pointing out at the same time that it is impossible to send more because of the necessity of fitting out the expedition to Timor.

Another difficulty in the way of sending out extensive expeditions is the heavy drag upon the treasury of the Republic whose constitution does not permit of any considerable expenditure. With the colonial situation unsatisfactory, the internal political situation here is rapidly giving rise to many fears and people are openly talking of the possibility of a "coup d'etat."

The conservative party, under the leadership of Dr. Antonio Jose d'Almeida, has declared open war on the government, which is controlled and supported by the democratic party headed by Dr. Alphonso Costa. This struggle of parties is so acute that the government is continuing with great difficulty, and by the constitution parliament cannot be dissolved.

The "coup d'etat" is being arranged by leaders of the democratic party. Their idea is, with the assistance of the government, to enter parliament by force and expel Dr. Almeida and his followers, replacing them by democrats who shall be loyal to the government. The democrats believe that this could be accomplished with little if any bloodshed. Should this move be carried out it is recognized that Dr. Costa would be practically the dictator of Portugal, as it is likely that the president of the republic, Dr. Manuel d'Avrilha, who is an intimate friend of Dr. Almeida, would be immediately deposed and Dr. Costa or some representative of Costa chosen president.

The question of the treatment of political prisoners is being actively discussed in the newspapers. This is due to the disclosure that the inmates of Limeira fortress, the central prison of Lisbon, have been often placed in dungeons with little air or light, as a means of forcing them to reveal their supposed secrets. Although these dungeons are wet and damp, prisoners are only allowed to wear a light shirt and trousers. Their food was bread and water. It is charged, moreover, that when they refused to disclose their secrets, they were beaten with sticks made from rawhide which leave terrible wounds. These revelations, which came out through newspaper interviews with some of the prisoners, have caused a great sensation and have induced the government to promise to begin an inquiry and to put an end to any cruel treatment.

The British and Portuguese governments are now in negotiations for the protection of the port of Lisbon. The idea is to make it a strong basis for naval operations. The old fort of Almada, situated across the Tagus in front of Lisbon, will be demolished and reconstructed with the latest improvements and armed with heavy artillery. The forts of Bom Successo and Sao Juliao de Barra will be likewise improved and fitted out with new artillery. These improvements form a part of the defense of the Portuguese coast and the strategic triangle of Madeira, Lagos and Cape Vert, which has been included in the provisions of the Anglo-Portuguese alliance.

ELECTION OF SENATORS

Is Problem Facing the Mexican People

MEXICO CITY, May 20.—Mexico is free to face with the hard problem of effecting the election of senators and deputies to the national assembly under unprecedented circumstances. The laws calling for the direct election of members of the assembly is to be in force for the first time and the states of Chihuahua and Sinaloa in the north and Morelos and Guerrero in the south are partially or entirely beyond the jurisdiction of the central government, and in a state of open war. President Madero does not think himself justified in suspending the elections until the country is pacified, since he has a congress which is made up in its majority of partisans of the old regime. On the other hand, he fears the result of campaign propaganda which would necessarily precede the election of a new assembly.

Local political conditions in the state of Oaxaca, where the governor, Benito Juarez Maza, died a few weeks ago, has already assumed a condition of unrest which is alarming. The popular candidate for the governorship is Gen. Felix Diaz, nephew of the ex-president, who was defeated by Juarez in the last elections. In a campaign which was not free from bloodshed, Gen. Vito Alessio Robles, who, until recently, had charge of the campaign against the revolutionists in Morelos, Puebla and Guerrero, is the government candidate. He is not popular in his home state and it is believed that an attempt to force him on the people would result in a general uprising in that state, of which it has been said: "When Oaxaca rises, the government packs its trunk."

Political Difficulties
Gen. Pascual Orozco, leader of the present revolution, has added still further to the political difficulties by making it plain through a message to the national assembly, that the revolution, in case it were to triumph, would refuse to recognize any officials elected at this time, whether state or federal.

Huge Monolith
A huge monolith was unearthed in the capital a short time ago, during excavations which are being carried on for the extension of water mains. The stone is in the form of a plumed serpent and it is thought may have been one of the corner stones of the ancient Aztec temple of Teocuitlan. The find has been turned over to the national museum with accurate measurements as to the place in which it was found. A committee will be chosen to study the stone and the place of its discovery, with a view to fixing the exact location of the ancient temple.

Retires From Ring
Harper Lee, the only American bull-fighter and consequently of international fame, has retired from the ring and was confined in the Episcopal faith in Guadalajara. His retirement was fantastic, although not according to the best ethics of the profession. In accordance with time-worn usage, it is customary for the retiring "matador" to cut off the short queue, which is the badge of the profession, before leaving the ring after his last fight.

Lee's fiancée, in defiance of custom, cut off his queue at a dinner which was given him at the home of her parents in San Luis Potosi.

Reporter Protested

Jesus Flores Magon, minister of the interior in President Madero's cabinet, is the principal source of official information in Mexico City, and receives the reporters from the local papers every evening, official duties permitting. Not long ago he was asked for some information as to the movements of a Lieutenant of Emiliana Zapata, the rebel leader in the south.

It happened that the rebel's name was the same as that of one of the reporters, and turning to him Magon said: "By the way, what is your cousin doing at present?" The reporter protested indignantly, disclaiming any relation to the rebel, whereupon Mr. Magon said: "I see no reason for you to be offended. I have brothers who are anarchists and see no cause why you should not have relatives who are Zapatistas."
